GAINS AND LOSSES.

The returns of the recent election, such as they are, are now all in, with the exception of two small towns, and it is possible to state definitely what the Republican party achieved Tues-day. It elected L. C. Huck County Treasurer by 4,000 majority, and J. J. Healy, Clerk of the Su-perior Court, and Alexander Wolcott County urveyor, by about the same figure. It replace Russell of the Evanston Commission District by C. C. Ayars, an honest and capable man, and it returned John Tabor, from the Cicero District. in the place of John Crawford, who has been o long for the county's good. If only honest votes had been counted it would have elected Murry Nelson and John Jones, the forme by a large the latter by a small majority. But there were wards where honesty was the excep-tion Tuesday, and the fraudulent ballots put into the boxes during the day and the night have temporarily defeated the will of the people, and will make it necessary to contest the seats repeating in the Eighth Ward-especially in the Sixth Precinct—and in the Twentieth and Eighteenth Wards can be proven so easily that no court would hesitate to throw out the spurious returns. In some wards the wote for County Commissioners was not all counted, as is shown vass will be necessary to determine the exact

THE CASES OF REPORTES PHAUD in several of the wards. Several persons came in who had been present at the places where such scenes had occurred, and they proceeded to relate the circumstances according to their knowledge of them. The conduct of the election judges in the Third Precinct of the Eighteenth Ward was shown up, and the narration of the witnesses elicited considerable discussion. The condition of affairs in the Twentieth Ward, where it was alleged that a tremendous vofe had been polled illegally, was also considered. favor of prosecuting all offenders to the utmost limit of the law. Juch indignation was expressed at the action of the election judges in these wards, and several gentlemen present volunteered large contributions for the purpose of prosecuting the cases. Some uncertainty existing as to the law upon this class of cases, it was decided to send for State's Atturney Reed, and procure his opinion. Accordingly an invitation was sent to Mr. Reed to come over and participate in the proceedings. He arrived shortly afterwards. A lengthy consultation ensued, resulting in the appointment of a Committee of Investigation, as follows: Commissioner Clough, Elias Shipman, and J. S. Mullen.

The Committee reached the County Building about noon, and if they had been strangers what they saw for a block around would not have favorably impressed them. The neighboring saloons, always aglow with patronage, were deserted, and the steps were lined with so richly deserve it. Once in the hands of the Citizens' Association, the case will not be neglected.

There is a plan suggested which has received warm support, to organize the Republican party into a permanent body, to be supported by contributions, to continue in the rooms where the headquarters have been in the campaign just over, and to have branch organizations in each ward of the city. The object of this move would be the general welfare of the party and the more systematic and thorough means of seeing a decent election throughout the city in the spring.

READY TO RECEIVE TESTIMONY.

The Executive Committee of the Citizens' Association beld a meeting in their rooms in the Merchants' Building, corner of LaSalle and Washington streets, yesterday afternoon, for the purpose of taking action in regard to contesting Commissioners Cleary and Mulloy's pretended election, and to institute investigation into the frauds perpetrated at Tuesday's election, and looking to bringing the guirty parties to justice. The following was adopted by the Committee:

Resolved, That the Citizens' Association proceed at once to investigate the alleged frauds at the election in this city yesterday, Nov. 2, 1873, as reported to the Association, or as may be hereafter reported by any person of either political party.

In accordance with the above resolution, Mr. J. C. Ambler, the Secretary, invites persons to appear in the Association's rooms, 28 and 29 Merchants' Building, this morning at 10 o'clock, or at any subsequent time, and give such information in regard to election frauds as they may have in their possession. As barefaced stuffing was done in the two first precincts of the Twentieth Ward by Mike Corcoran and his bummers, it would be well to take their cases in hand without delay. That proof positive will be forthcoming against this chique there can be no doubt. The First Precinct of the Seventeenth Ward was also it is alleged fraudulently carried, and persons having knowledge of irregularities anywhere in the city ought to m

HOW THEY TRIED IN THE FIFTH.

An attempted fraud, and one of a very seriou nature, has come to light in a quarter where such a thing was least expected. It happened in the First Precinct of the Fifth Ward, the polls of which were located in the real estate office of At an early hour yesterday morning a large number of prominent Republicans assembled at he headquarters to talk over the result of the election and to exchange congratulations over the new and improved aspect of political affairs. Mr. E. L. Barber, at 257 Twenty-ninth street, near the corner of State. The building is small brick structure, containing two narrow rooms, and is similar in size and appearance to renewed, accompanied by a general hand-shak-ing all around. Among the beaming faces to be noticed in the Executive Committee room were The front room was used for the voting place, ballots being deposited through the window from the street. The judges of election were those of George Sherwood, James P. Root, Com-missioners Clough and Burdick, Charles H. Ham, Ald. Dixon, Ald. O. L. Mann, and many others. It was a long time before anything approach-ing business could be done. On all sides could No. 1433 Burnside street. Although they were heard only the cheerful and bearty voices of followers of Hesing, yet, as will be seen, their ideas of the sanctity of the ballot-box were widely different. The clerks were John Pooley, of No. 802 State street, and John Cumberlidg of No. 361 Twenty-seventh street. Beside fusion owing to the growd, and some good-hu-mored jostling about. No one felt called upon to make a speech, however, which was one com-fort, for everybody had become tired of speech-making as well as of speech-hearing.

After a while a cort of impromptu meeting was called in the committee-room to take action upon these, there were precent inside the office during the day and evening Mr. E. L. Barber and Col J. S. Cooper, who had been appointed by the Republican Executive Committee as challengers for that precinct. These two were the only Repub-licans admitted. Police officers Burger and T. J. and Mr. Glosson bearing away the ballot-box, which was not locked, nor were the ballots sealed up in their proper envelope as is required by law.

A TRIBUNE reporter called upon Mr. Barber yesterday, in order to get his statement of the case. He was extremely reluctant to give names or otherwise implicate his associate, although he was justly indignant at the manner in which they had treated him and Col. Cooper. He finally detailed, however, the facts, substantially as given above. At the close of the interview the following conversation took place:

Reporter—Were you in a position to see the person or persons who substituted the bogus Opposition ballots for the split tickets?

Mr. B.—I was.* (He then pointed out to the reporter the exact place where each man sat at the table while the votes were being recounted.) I know perfectly well that the bogus ballots were thrown in by the parties at my right.

Mr. B.—Yes.

Reporter—Can you guess which man it was that did it?

Mr. B.—I can only say this: Ryan was leaning back, and did not have his hands near the table. Glesson, however, was fumbling the tickets as soon as they were on the table.

Here, the interview terminated. Mr. Barber expresses his wish and intention to go before the Grand Jury as soon as possible and make his statement. It is a strong one, and is backed up by several credible witnesses.

THE "STAARS-ZEITUNG" REPUDIATES THE IRISH.
The leading editorial in yesterday's Staats-Zeitung has the following interesting comment

During Tuesday afternoon Mr. N. E. Sheidor in the Second Precinct of the Twentieth Ward. He has traced them from the polls on Dearboro street, they being led by an old bird named Tim Casey, who has a clerkship in H. B. Miller's office. Mr. Sheldon had warned the party on them, but was each time greeted with threats and the Second Precinct of the Twentieth Ward Tim Casey with a number of his roughs sur-rounded the gentleman and beat him, one of the party drawing a revolver. Mr. Sheldon had previously called several times upon the police to do their duty, but they refused, and being attacked. The policeman very naturally, but very wroogly, took the accused before Justice Kaufmann, of the North Side Police Court, and here is where his influence as becomes a generous partisan. On account of their business engagements they were spared the agony of an interview.

Judge Dickey, Corporation Counsel, seemed extraordinaryly cheerful over something, but he too was so engrossed with other matters that his opinion could not be had as to the result of the election and the causes which led to Hesing's defeat.

There was some consolation to be had in the reported election of Mulioy and Cleary, but nothing was said about those gentlamen forming a strong addition to the already notorious County Board. Late in the afternoon, Cleary came stound the City-Hall, and received numerous congratulations, to return for which he offered consoling words.

But few of the Aldermen came around. Corcoran conversed with the Mayor on the situation, in a desultory way, and said he did not propose to give up just then; the vote was yet to be counsed efficially. When informed that the judges of the Opposition had returned the figures, he readily admitted their general correctness.

ures, he readily admitted their general corrections.

The City Treasurer was at home, ill, but it is said that he predicted Hesing's defeat after the merchants' meeting. Comptroller Hayes is still in New York, and therefore has escaped the heated campaign and its resulting consequences.

The people of Norwood Park feel somewhat aggrieved at the shape of the election returns from their town. It appears from the table that the town gave a large majority for the great Dead-and-Buried candidate, and the respectable citizens do not like the imputation that they belong to the gang, and wish to have it understood that at the decent precinct, at the depot, there was a heavy majority for Huck, and no encouragement for Hesing; but the Poor-House precinct, under the management of the wondrous Kimberley, turned out the Hesing vote for which it was created.

ONE LESSON OF TUESDAY'S ELECTION. To the Editor of The Chicago Tribune:
CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—The election of Tuesday, in

The policeman very naturally, but very wrongly, took the accused before Justice Raufmann, of the North Side Folice Court, and here is where years agreed the work of the North Side Folice Court, and here is where years agreed the work of the North Side Folice Court, and here is where years and battery and threatening. The Justice, instead of putting Casey under sufficient bonds, held him in but $200, on likerally "sixa" bail. And the worst feature of this is still to be told. Tim becamp partially his own bondsman, John H. Colvin becoming Joint surety. Not only is the entire proceeding unlawful, but it shows badly for young Colvin, who is found making the rounds of the polis with tissees and ballot-box sinfers and others of like lik, and going bail for them. Still it is poor bail, for young Colvin is not requarkable for either the possession of personal Property or real estat.

And now.

Justice Kanfmann turns the bail bond over to Justice Mesch, and again places the case in his hands. Tim's bail is to the 17th inst., but it is not unlikely that Justice Mesch will see to it that Casey is put under sufficient bonds and this illegal action inquired into. Prompt sction is necessary, however, or Tim will be out of the city, and J. H., will neither deliver up nor pay up.

NOTES.

An interesting feature yesterday in the County Clerk's office was the return of the bailot-boxe from the different wards, all of which have to be deposited with him within four days after the counting of the votes. The box from the Poor-House precinct of Norwood Park, containing the 200 or more pauper votes, was brought in very appropriately by Warden Kimberly. Nevertheless, the ringmasters concluded that 5,000 colored votes must be prevented from voting or they would lose the city and State in spite of all they could do in the way of repeating and hallot-box stuffing. This work was intrusted to the ring ruffines of the several wards, and, with the assistance of the police, they executed it thoroughly. A Clever Thief.

The Paris correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph writes to that journal: "There is rejoicing in the police over the capture or a droll scoundrel who has long given them work to do. This fellow hung around the Lyons railway station about evening time. On catching sight of a traveler who tooked simple, he made acquaint-buce in a lonely spot, and mysteriously offered to sell patent watch-chains of amazing beauty and incredible strength. 'Try it,' said he, 'you're a fine man, but even you can't break my chain.' So the chain was twisted round the fine man's wriste, and strapped to. While he straggled with it the vender would calmir lay him flat, take all valuables, and make off. For years this ruffian has been playing his ingenious game, going sometimes into the country. One night intelly, at the Lyons Railway, he found a victim, chained him up, plundered him, and ran away. But the countryman chanced to be particularly strong and awift. He broke the handcuffe, and he caught the thief."

Pittston, Pa. THE DESPERATE NEW YORK DUEL. Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune, New York, Nov. 3.—A terrible duel with pis ols was fought in a small room in a tenement house at No. 106 Delancy street, in this city, on Tuesday afternoon. The fight grew out of a personal quarrel on a matter of business, and the contestants, Joseph Goldman and David Jaoslow by name, were both Hebrews, and natives of Russian Poland, and had been partners in manufacturing jewelry at No. 59 East Broadway for about two years. Recently business had not been very remunerative, and Jaroslow became suspicious of his pariner, and began keeping a separate account of his transactions. This account confirmed his suspicions, and the partners had a disagreement, resulting in a dissolution of the firm in August last. The money which Jaroslow had invested was gone, and he found himself almost penniless. He, however, formed partnership with another jeweler and began business anew, Goldman resented the suspicions cast upon him, and was accustomed to speak reproachfully to his former partner, and to mention him with bister terms in conversation with others. Goldman resided at No. 100 Hester street, and Jaroslow No. 19 Essex street. On Monday night Goldman met Jaroslow at the Atlantic Garden, in the Bowery, and asked him to take a glass of beer. After drinking several times, Goldman went to the residence of a friend, Daniel Pearison, at No, 106 Delancey street, and bade Jarosolow good night. Goldman slept that hight with Pearison, and in the morning com-plained of headache. Pearison went away to his work about 7 o'clock, leaving Goldman in bed, and did not return until after the shooting, about noon. On Tuesday Goldman called at No. 19 Essex street to see Joroso-low, and asked him to pay him $1.25 which he said Jarosolow owed him. Jarosolow replied that he had not the change with him, but could pay it some other time. Goldman then, after some further conversation, went away, and soon after sent a message to Jarosolow that a lady friend of his wished to see him at No. 106 Delancey street, before leaving the went up to the room of Peareson, on the fourth floor, where Goldman was. floor, where Goldman was, Miss Josephine Weidman, living in the same house, on the third floor, back room, reports that, about 4 o'clock in the afternoon she heard eight pistol-shots fired in rapid succession, followed by the noise of something falling. Being very much frightened, she ran to the Tenth Precinct Station-House on Eldridge street and gave an alarm. Officer Henken went with her immediately to the house and ascended to the top floor, but all was then still. The officer knocked at thedoor of Peareson's room where the two men were, but received no reply, and then broke open the door with a hatchet. A terrible sight was before him. Goldman was lying on the floor dead with a pistol clenched in his hand, and Jaroslow was half sitting and half kneeling, propped against the door, living but insensible. A partly-discharged pistol remained in his hand. Both men were shot through the head, and the marks of other shots were found in the walls of the room. The room was not larger than 10 by 15 feet in adimensions, and the encounter had evidently been entered upon with deadly intentions. The pistols were seven chambered revolvers, out of which four chambers of one and three of the other were emptied. An ambulance was telegraphed for, and Jaroslow was taken to Bellevue Hospital, but died in the ambulance while on his way to the hospital. The friends of Goldman claim that Jaroslow shot him had then committed suicide. No foundation for such a claim is known, and the fact that each man was found with a pistol in his hand contradicts the supposition.

THE LANGMAID TRAGEDY. There seems to be little doubt that in Joseph La Page, now in durance in Concord Jail, the New Hampshire authorities have the perpetra-tor of the murder of poor Josie Langmaid at Pembroke. The evidence against La Page is en-tirely of a circumstantial and inferential character. Suspicion was first directed toward him in the following described manner: Shortly before the murder, Mr. Fowler, Chairman of the Board of Selectmen of Pembroke, had some men at work for him with a threshing-machine. Auother, whom he had engaged as tender, had to disappoint him, and suggested the employment, in his stead, of a Frenchman who was along with him. Mr. Fowler accepted the substitute, did not inquire his name, and kept him through the day. When they were all in at tea, Mr. Fowler's daughter, a mate of Josie Langmaid, came in and was observed by the Frenchman. After tea, when hitching up a horse to go to the village, Mr.

Fowler's son was asked by the Frenchman who the girl was, and, being amswered that she was his sister, he next inquired where she had come from; the answer was, from school, and the academy on a distant elevation was pointed out.
While passing along the road together toward the village, and when they reached the new road which branches off toward the academy, the Frenchman inquired of young Fowler if his sister went over that or the old road, and was answered, unsuepectingly, that the schol-Frenchman inquired of young Fowler if his sister went over that or the old road, and was answered, unsuspectingly, that the scholars from that direction usually took the new road, through the woods. The bushes alongside this new road are very thick, and the scholars in passing had been in the habit of hiding and springing out to frighten each other. The next day, or at least soon after young Fowler had his talk with the Frenchman, as one of the schoolboys was going to school, he caught an indistinct view of what he supposed to be one of his mates in the bushes, and shouted to him that he couldn't frighten anybody, for that was "played out." When he arrived at the academy he was astonished to see there the very boy whom he supposed he had passed in the bushes. The party he saw is supposed to have been La Page lying in wait for Miss Fowler. On the day of the murder, which was almost immediately after this. Miss Fowler, just before entering the woods, waited for Josie Langmald to come along; after waiting some time, some neighbor came along with a carriage, and, concluding that Josie had preceded her, she got in and went to school, thus probably saving her life. It was not ten minutes after that, probably, that Josie met har murderer. When the murder was discovered, Mr. Fowler's boy recalled this conversation with the Freuchman. Suspicion began to run against him, and an effort was then made to find him, to discover who he was and where he belonged.

It was found near the body of the Langmaid girl, and has been identified as having been seen in La Page's possession on the Saturday before the murder. A few moments before 9 o'clock on the fatal day, he was within 50 rods of the scene of murder, and going toward it with an ax on his shoulder. His wife says he is a man of strong animal passions. This is otherwise shewn in his talk with young men in the neighborhood, of several of whom, it has been shown, he has of late inquired concerning this, that, and the other girl, if she went to school, what time she went, what road she took, if she went slone, etc. He has been identified by several girls as a man who has chased them in the wooded reads and very much frightened them, and by one or two sportsmen, who saw him chasing a Mise Watson, being much fushed and excited at the time; also, by a lady and her daughter, as having waylaid them in the woods and pursued them, having a stick in his hands,—the timely meeting of another man, they believe, saving them from actual assault.

The statements of his wife also tend to

The statements of his wife also tend to strengthen the suspicion against him. She recounts the incident of brutal and felonions assault upon her sister in Canada some since. He acknowledges that he was arrested for such an affair, and wonders how the officers ever heard of it, but says he was discharged, as another man was found to be guilty. In point of fact, he made an escape by assaulting the officers. He was arrested for the St. Albans murder, but discharged for want of evidence.

Near the body of the Ball girl was found a face-mask, the strings having what is known as a "Frenchman's knot." Over the body of Josie Langmaid were found tied together a couple of green twigs, and they were also tied with a "Frenchman's knot." When La Page assaulted his wife's sister he wore a mask. That is proved. The assault was similar in character to that made upon the Ball girl, where, as before said, a mask was used. The assault upon Josie Langmaid was also precisely similar. La Page was in the neighborhood of the scenes of both murders at the time they were committed. He says he didn't know the Ball girl, but it can be proved that he did.

The above are the main points of the case against La Page, though of course there are numerous other corroborating circumstances, making so complete a chain of evidence that the Grand Jury found plenty of reason for indicting him.

Chamois (Mo.) Leader, Oct. 30.
On last Thursday afternoon, as Mr. Augustus Kelling, Julius Knott, Samuel Chappell, and others, were returning home from a sale, they were addressed by a young man by the name of Tackett, who stated that he would kill the first man who passed him on the road.

The gentlemen paid no attention to his threats, and in fact regarded them as idle or made in jest, until Mr. Casper Kathoff overtook him when Tackett drew his pistol and said: "Did I jest, until Mr. Casper Kathoff overtook him, when Tackett drew his pistol and side: "Did I not tell you that I would kill the first man that passed me?" Mr. Kathoff asked him what he meant, at the same time proparing to defend himself with a washboard, which fortunately he had with him. But before any encounter could take place Mr. Cramer disarmed young Tackett, who then galloped off, etating that he would "kill every d—d Dutchman is the crowd."

The party of gentlemen unfortunately—as the sequel shows—disregarded this threat, and rode quietly onto Fredericksburg, where they slopped off as few moments, and, being joined by Dr. Konitzky and Loms Keggler, they all started in company to their respective homes, little dreaming of the danger that awaited them. For Tackett, after leaving the party, proceeded to the house of Mr. Berman, where he was in the habit of stopping, and, procuring a loaded double-barreled shot-gun, he went to a bridge near Fredericksburg, over which the party would be compelled to pass in order to reach their homes; and, having stationed himself behind a tree, coolly awaited the coming of his doomed and unanspecting prey. He had not long to wait before the party esmejup. Tackett called out: "D—n you, I said I would kill you d—d Dutchmen!" at the same time firing upon the party, emptying one of his barrels in the side and chest of alr. Louis Keggler. Dr. Konitzky immediately went to the assistance of his fallen friend and, while beading over him, received. rediately went to the assistance of his fall street, got into a quarrel with his wife. Both were in that state known as "two-thirds seas over," but, instead of feeling happy, it affected them just the opposite. They pitched into each other, tore each other's hair, and raised such a rumpus generally that the neighbors sent for some of the boys at the engine-house to go down and put a stop to the disturbance. Some of the boys did go down, but when they got there the trouble had subsided, and to all appearances "peace held sway supreme." As the sequel will show, however, it was not so peaceful as it seemed. By some diplomatic course or other, the woman succeeded in getting her lord and master to bed. Her next move was to get a bottle of chloroform which was near at hand and administer a nice little dose to her husband, which soon put him to sleep and made him whelly oblivious to what was going on around him. The next act was to precure an old saw, with which she proceeded to do a job in surgery that would put a professional surgeon to blush. Beginning at the lower end of the man's leg, she commenced sawing until she had severed that useful appendage in twain. He, totally unconscious of what was going on, slept on, "the sleep of the innocent," while she, after the job was done, looked on, watching his life-blood ebb slowly away. Somehow or other, the neighbors outside got wind of what was going on inside the house, and rushed in in time to stop the bleeding, but at last accounts it was a question whether the man would live or not. For some time past the man has been employed on the new county buildings, now in process of erection.

A BANK ROBBERY.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

WILRESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 3.—The First Nation al Bank of Pittston was robbed last night to the extent of $40,000 in bonds. The burglars got nto the vault by taking up the top of the vault through the upper floor, and lowering them-selves by means of a rope-ladder. After effecting an entrance they proceeded to blow oper the three safes by the use of gunpowder blows the three safes by the use of gunpowder blown into the looks with small bellows. From the first one they obtained $12,000 in Lackawanna & Bloomsburg Railroad boads, $5,000 in Wilkeebarre city-bonds, $2,000 in Pittston Seminary bonds, and $20,000 iworth of the Oxford Coal Company's bonds, together with fifty shares of the bank stock. They had blown the second safe partially open, but became alarmed before getting to the contents, some $25,000 in currency, and took a hurried departure, leaving all their tools behind. The loss to the bank will, the officers assert, not reach $100, as most of the securities are the property of private parties, and are not negotiable. The burglars carried off $200 in nickels, but, after carrying them a short distance, they threw them away, where they were found this morning.

BRUTAL ASSAULT.

Br. Louis, Nov. S.—As W. fl. Smyths, one of the reporters of the Econing Dispatch, stepped out of the Criminal Court room about noon to-day, he was savagely assaulted by Presley N. Jones, of the law firm of Turner & Jones, knocaded own, and severely beaten. Turner also-struck him over the head several times with a heavy cabe. Smyth managed to ragain his feet in a few minutes, and drew a pistol to defend himself, when a police officer arrived, disarmed him, and arrested both Jones and Turner, and they were confined in the calaboose. Subsequently a warrant charging them with assault to kill was swore out against them, and they were sent to jail. The attack, which was totally unexpected and brutal in character, grew out of mention in the Dispatch of the arrest, a few days ago, of Jones for drunkenness, and some unprofessional conduct on the part of the firm in the United States Circuit Court.

Some words passed between the party, which ultimately terminated in a row, in which sodabottles and clubs were quite freely used. It is stated that a flying missile struck Dippe in the region of the left temple, which was at the time considered of no consequence, but the wound subsequently became very painful, and resulted in death this morning. The police have taken the matter in hand.

A MAN'KILLED BY AN OFFICER. Ransas City, Mo., Nov. 3.—A special dispatch to the Kansas City Times, from Wichita, Kan., gives the particulars of a bloody fight, which took place in London, Sumner County, on election day. A number of men had been drinking too much whisky, and at last got to fighting. Sheriff Neil tried to quell the disturbance, and, in doing it, shot and sinetactly killed a man named J. H. Turner, and badly wounded two others. The man killed has long been a hard character and a terror to the community.

A 10-YEAR-OLD MURDERER.
Special Disorded to The Chicago Tribune.
OSAGE MISSION, KAD., Nov. 3.—A small boy, aged 10 years, the son of John Nichols, living at Austin, in this county shot and killed a little son of Widow Johnson on last Sunday. The young murderer had been indulged by his father in a propensity to carry a revolver, and the killing of his companion is the result. The shot took effect in the head, and death ensued immediately.

SIX PERSONS SENTENCED TO DEATH. signed the death-warrants of six criminals con-victed of murder,—two in Conshatta, to be executed Friday, Nov. 19; two in Monroe, and two in New Orleans, to be executed Nov. 26. Two of the condemned are white and four colored.

A WOMAN SAWS OFF THE LEG OF HER HUSBAND.

Ciercand Leader.

Yesterday afternoon a man, whose name could not be learned, and who, with his family, lives near the corner of Williams alley and Foontain street, got into a quarrel with his wife. Both were in that state known as "two-thirds seasy over," but, instead of feeling happy, it affected them just the opposite. They pitched into each other, tore each other's hair, and raised such a rumpus generally that the neighbors sent for some of the boys at the engine-house to go down and put a stop to the disturbance. Some of the boys at the engine-house to go down and put a stop to the disturbance. Some of the boys did go down, but when there got there the trouble had subsided, and to all appearances "peace held sway supreme." As the sequel will show, however, it was not so peaceful as it seemed. By a some diplomatic course or other, the woman succeeded in getting her lord and master to bed.

"Never mind," said his friend, "what you want is the money for your cotton, and if Entler can get it for you, what is the odds about his politics?" After considerable argument the old Rebel concluded to apply to Butler. He finally engaged him to take charge of the case for a foo of $25,000. The point was to have the supeal to the Supreme Court withdrawn or dismissed. I forget, now, whether the case were reached the Supreme Court, or whether the case were reached the Supreme Court, or whether the case were reached the Supreme Court, or whether the case were reached the Supreme Court, or whether the case were reached the Supreme Court, or whether the case were reached the Supreme Court, or whether the training as withdrawn. But the old man was not yet out of his troubles now was Butler's work entirely completed. A lawyer here named Bartley, a brother in-law of Gen. Sherman, set up a claim for $100,000 for legal services, and procured an injunction from one of the District Courts to prevent the Secretary of the Treasury from paying the old Rebel's warrant. On the morning of the day upon which the argument on the injunction was to be heard Gen. Butler, accompanied by his client, visited the Treasury Department, procured the warrant for the seven hundred and old thousand dollars, passed it through its various stages, a process usually occupying several hours, had it signed by the Secretary and cashed. Taking out his own $25,000 fee and stuffing it into his vest pocket, and giving the balance to his client, with the advice that he should take the first train for Baltimore and thereby avoid the numerous Washington sharks always lying in wait for such prey, Butler proceeded to the Court to argue the injunction, and Butler proceeded to meet another client with another big fee.

sin was forced by plants opinion to admin some final, they selected those whose connection with the persons to be saved was the least likely to work harm if exposures should result. I do not man to question the righteousness of the judgment given in regard to McCann—far from it; the whole amount of his plunder, attempted as well as effected, will not exceed $120,000, while the Ring proper has stolen, as beef should be more than $2,000, as beef should be more than $2,000, as beef should be defended, and the commission devoted a large amount of space and sophistiv to that end, while ignoring and suppressing important evidence which would prove transfer the following extracts from the reget are selected in this connection:

Prof. Marsh charges that Saville claimed credit as for the Sih day of November, 1874, for the issue of '271,248 pounds of beef," or over 260 lead of cattle, according to the average weight which anlowed the contractor on the last herd resired, and adds: "The truth is that he issued no beef whatever to the Indians on that day, nor for several days afterward, as I undersied, and adds: "The truth is that he issued no beef whatever to the Indians on that day, nor for several days afterward, as I undersied from the Agent and others at the Agency. I strived at the Agency on Nov. 9, and was informed by the Agent that he had been for some time withholding rations from the Indians until ity would consent to be counted, "etc. Recurring to the same subject, on page 14, he says:

For example, there is conclusive evidence that the end is the Agency on Nov. 11, 1874, were the sure head of yours animals examined by Gen. Bradley, the scording to the prevision returns of Agent Surf pounds of beef, or 450 head of cattle, when he smally had only seven.

a facts which we have upon the subject are as follows:

It is true that no beef was issued to the Indians on Nov. 8, 1874, nor afterward until Nov. 14, when Prof. Marsh was present. It is claimed by Dr. Saville, however, that issues of beef did take place between the 1st and 8th of Nowsher, as follows.

and take place between the 1st and Stator November, as follows:
Nov. 2 issued 377. Nev. 2, to Big Horn and Small Horse. 1; Nov. 2, Scraper, 1; Nov. 2, to White Thunder, 2; Nov. 2, to Keeps the Battle, 1; Nov. 2, to Botted Ell.

sive, it is of but little consequence as to the procise date of the issue.

As to the time when the 150 stampeded cattle wer returned, Dr. Saville seems to be in some confusion of memory; but, as no record was made of it, and he simply received at some delivery at about that time 150 head more than he gave a receipt for, it may not be strange that he abould not now remember or be able to testify with entire accuracy. From these facts it seems conclusive that he must have received 150 head more on the 1st of October than he receipted for.
This riew of the matter is strengthened by the testimony of G. M. Bosler, who says, in speaking of the stampede of Sept. 7, 1874: "I know that at the next delivery an equal number of cuttle was stricken off to make up that number."

It is proper to state in this connection that sued, etc., at Red Cloud Agency for the 4th of October, 1874, the following is his statement of the beef account:

he had given at least one corrupt contract to another relative. They had before them my report, to which I showed that Saville had given a receipt for cattle not received at any time, and a statement which proves that he had before given a receipt for cattle, allowing a larger average than be actually received.

They had evidence that Bosfer had been mixed up in disreputable transactions with Indian officials, and positive proof that he claimed and received the payments for the same lot of cattle, under circumstances which precluded the possibility of his innocence.

There was, therefore, a possibility that Saville and Bosler might connive at frauds, and very strong testimony that the cattle delivered at Red Cloud Agency could not have been so weighty as was claimed by the Agent and contractor. All the testimony of disinterested persons, army officers and others, was against the probability or even possibility, of the whole year's delivery at Red Cloud Agency being of the average weights represented. But the Commission ignored the probabilities against Bosler and Saville, and adopted the possibilities in their favor, while suppressing facts that would criminate the whole lot, and even going so far as to cast doubt upon the testimony of Bishop Hare and Prof. Marsh had notes of the conversation in which Saville stated that the weight of the cattle which he certified as being 1,043 was only 850 pounds, and, of course, these notes, taken on the spot, are more valuable as evidence than the mere opinion of the Commissioners, even if the record in the case showed a far different disposition on the part of the latter.

There is much more that can be said on this subject, but I have shown that the Commissioners themselves in their manimous report, and that, therefore, their claims of innocence for Saville and Bosler are abound. Samuri Walkers.

THE HORSE-DISEASE,
commonly called the "Epizootic," prevails throughout the entire county; but instances are very rare of its resulting fatally. There is not a discharging at the nostrie, as formerly, and the disease takes the form of a shight coughing, with but little disposition to est on the part of the animals.

The Chicago Tribune. Thursday Morning, November 4, 1875.

Greenbacks, at the New York Gold Ex change yesterday, rose from 864 to 87, fell w 863, and closed at 863.

The majority for HUCE, though falling be tow the original estimate, will be between 3,500 and 4.000. The returns yet to be received will tend to increase rather than diminish the Republican majority.

New York State is in doubt. It is claimed by both Republicans and Democrats by small majorities, and neither side are disposed to give up until the official returns are canvassed LUDINGTON'S majority over TAYLOR in Wisconsin is placed at between 4,000 and 5,000.

Judge DRUMMOND, of the United State Circuit Court, yesterday confirmed the sale by the Master in Chancery of the Rockford, Rock Island & St. Louis Railroad to Her-MANN OSTERBERG, the purchaser in behalf of the German bondholders.

The North Chicago Town Board have made some wholesome reductions in the salaries of town officers, leaving the compensation liberal enough for the services performed, but yet the figures are gratefully small compared with the allowances heretofore voted by the Chicago Town Boards.

During the past three months sixteen new National Banks have been organized, with a circulation of $1,916,710, but for the same " wants of trade" have led to the deposit of $6,752,536 in legal-tenders for the mption and retirement of National Bank circulation, of which over $5,500,000 has been actually retired and burned. So it will appear that the glorious privilege of estab-lishing National Banks at the expense of the people has not been very freely exercised.

The vote returned as cast in Chicago on Tuesday far exceeded that ever before polled in this city. It was as follows:

While this far exceeds any vote ever polled in St. Louis, Cincinnati, Baltimore, or Boston, it is considerably short of what Brooklyn has polled, is scarcely half the vote cast in Phildelphia, and less than two-fifths as many as have been polled in New York, but still it is a very respectable vote for a new Western town, and it would be 3,000 of 4,000 larger if the suburbs were included, which are, properly speaking, parts of the city.

The disgraceful scenes of violence and intimidation enacted last Tuesday at the polls in Baltimore by Democratic ruffians hired for the purpose revive the former had eminence of that city as the home of the plug-uglies and the blood-tubs. There, as at some of the polling-places in Chicago, the police were in league with the roughs, and the Baltimore American charges that the large majority given for the Democratic ticket was due to the facts that the colored voters were driven from the polls as fast as they appeared, and that Reformers protesting against repeating and ballot-box and were forced to abandon the field early in the day. All this might have happened in Chicago but for the determined stand taken by our merchants, business-man, and retable citizens in general. Baltimore might profit by the lesson. papers have been settling the Eastern quesn according to their various pet method the Northern Powers have really taken the matter in hand, and are well advanced in a concerted movement looking toward peace in the Turkish provinces. To this end they have deported Austria, through her Prime Minister, Count Andrassy, to draw up for presentation to the Sublime Porte a proposition which shall guarantee radical reforms to the several provinces, this proposition being rather of the nature of a and notifying the Sultan that the needed reforms must be accorded to the vassal States. Late advices intimate that the Great Powers do not anticipate an early suppression of the rebellion in Herzegovina, believing that the Turkish Government is unequal to the task, and active intervention by Austria, with the countenance of the other Powers, is predicted.

Evidence accumulates of frauds and irregularities practiced at Tuesday's election in Chicago. It is considered probable that enough of illegal voting and of questionable proceedings by judges of election can be esablished to reduce the vote of PAT CLEARY and elect MURRY NELSON County Commissioner. The matter of investigating frauds and instituting the prosecution of the guilty parties has been placed in the hands of the Citizens' Association, to whom all information and evidence should be conreyed. We are to have an important city lection in April of next year, and a few trials and convictions of fraudulent voters and dishonest judges in the meantime would have an excellent effect.

THE GERMAN AND IRISH COALITION.

The benefit to Chicago and Cook County of the defeat of Mr. HESING, under the cirsumstances in which he appealed to the suffrages of the people, is considerably tempered by the election of three of the Commissioners on the Ring ticket, two of whom were unquestionably "counted in" by held-back returns from certain city precincts. Mr. Hesthe very men who dragged him down have floated on the scum. The only compense tion the general public can find in contemplating this phase of the result is that the unnatural, unpatriotic, and dangerous coa-lition of the Irish and Germans has been summarily rent asunder. The canvass of the vote shows beyond any question that the two elements were antagonistic in spite of their professed union of purpose. Mr. Hesing and his German friends cannot doubt that th Irish defeated him when they look over the vote polled for KEELEY. FINERTY and his friends have good grounds for believing that the Germans defeated him; and, though his own countrymen probably had more to do with it than he is willing to admit, it is pretty certain that a large number of Germans who voted for Hesing cut the rest of the ticket, and voted with the Republicans. Treachery will be charged on both sides. The Germans claim that they were betrayed by the Irish, and the Irish see that they were betrayed by the Germans. However much personal sympathy Mr.

HESING may have in his misfortune, which is peculiarly trying under the circumstances, he must blame himself largely for the result. He organized the dangerous political coalition of foreign-born citizens, and took advantage of a single and exceptional issue of commo concern to cement them into a compact organization against the native citizens which he intended to be permanent for local purposes. To insure this organization the con trol of local affairs, Mr. HESING also consented that the most depraved classes of metropolitan life,-the roughs, bullies, gamblers, and thieves,-should form a part of it, and have their representatives in public places. Nearly a year ago, shortly after the election of AGNEW as Sheriff, Mr. HESING perceived how strong a hold this vicious element had upon his local party, and he set about to break it down. He made vigorous warfare upon Agnew and the roughs with whom he had surrounded himself in the Sheriff's office. He attacked the corrupt Ring in the County those whom he denounced as "thieves, villains, and scoundrels." He dropped Convin when that individual began intriguing to hold his office beyond the term for which he had been elected; and, after the charter had been carried by open fraud, he apologized in a large public meeting for having discovered or invented him as a candidate for Mayor, and for having placed him in that position. for County Treasurer, he was willing, virtualthe corrupt elements which he had

Yet, when Mr. HESING became a candidat ly, to eat his own words, and utilize all previously denounced with all his characteristic bitterness. Mr. Hesixo could scarcely expect all his German friends to follow him in this retrograd movement; and many of those who voted for him on personal grounds refused to accept the scum and riff-raff with whom he again associated himself. Meanwhile, his former position had alienated some of the support on the Irish side. Here was the break, the full effect of which was only discovered in the vote.

The coalition can never be revived. Mr HESTNG knows that, and admits it in his pa per. The Germans do not want the alliance continued. The Irish can never bring it about, even if they desire it and should atempt it. The breach may be hatled as significant of a better state of things. We annot but regard such a coalition as exceedngly dangerous to the peace and welfare of the community and a menace to the popular government. There is no more justification for a nativistic alliance of foreign-born citizens against the native-born citizens than there was for the condemned association of na tive-born citizens twenty years ago against the foreign-born. All naturalized citizens should regard themselves as Americans, and should be divided among the political parties of the country by the same motives that induce American-born citizens to arrange themselves on one side or the other. Nativistic issues connot be encouraged or tolerated, whether they come from foreign-born or Americanborn citizens, without menacing the fundamental principles of popular government. The German-Irish coalition at an end the political campaigns in Chicago hereafte. will be fought out by the two great parties of the country, which the Presidential election of next year will bring to a fair and square est of strength. A good many Den test of strength. A good many Democrats who voted the Republican ticket on Tuesday, in order to defeat HISING and the bad crowd he was associating with, will undoubtedly vote the Democratic ticket hereafter; and housands of Germans, who went of first on a local sumptuary question and who remained away simply on Mr. HERING'S account, will ereafter vote the Republican ticket as they have done in the past. The Republicans hesitated for a long time whether or not to nominate a county ticket.

As between KEELEY and HESING, the bulk of KEELEY. But when it was found that the Opposition Convention had made up a Foreign Know-Nothing ticket, ignoring and ostracis-ing the Americans, the latter began to think it was time to do something in self-defense. Consequently the Republicans called a Convention, and nominated a ticket representing the three great elements, viz. : Americans Germans, and Irish, and placed it before the people and resolved to make for it the best fight in their power. Thousands of anti-Know-Nothing Democrats came to their assistance, and with this aid the unholy alliance ticket was beaten; and it is to be hoped that wicked combination will never again be attempted in Chicago.

MR. HESING'S VIEW OF THE MATTER. The Staats-Zeitung vesterday, presumably speaking for Mr. Hestno, accepts the result the election in a spirit anything but reconciled and conciliatory. Charity suggests, however, that so sore and trying a disappoint ment should be forgiven an outburst of illtemper. But, passing over the asperities of the Staats-Zeitung's comments, there are some points in it which have peculiar significance. admits, for instance, the final rupture of the coalition of the German and Irish voters, which Mr. HESING and the Staats-Zeitung had brought about. It attributes HESING's defeat to the treachery of the Irish, and adds: There will scarcely ever again be a thought of a coalition like that of two years ago; the recollection of the vile treachery practiced yesterday will not easily permit of mutual confidence hereafter." This is the most important admission that he makes, and we have commented elsewhere on its significance and the public benefit likely to ensue therefrom. We need only say here that the subsequent charge of the Staats-Zeitung, that the result attests a revival of the Know-Nothing sentiment of 1854, is dictated either by oss prejudice or willful misrepresentation All the Know-Nothingism was on the other side in the attempt to maintain a coalition of the foreign-born citizens, as confessed by the failure; and the best proof of the entire absence of any such purpose on the successful side is the fact that two representatives of the foreign element-Messrs. Huck and HEALY-were chosen to the principal places

On a par with this misrepresentation is the ssertion that "the victory of the Know-Nothings in this county election will be looked upon by them as the forerunner of their victory in the next city election (April, 1956), and that, in the event of such a vic tory, will follow the enforcement of the State Temperance law and the city Sunday ordinance." Mr. Hespag and the editor of the Staats-Zeitung both know very well that the temperance question and the Sun-

day question were not in issue in campaign, and will not be spring election. The choice Mr. Huck, the son of one of the oldest brew ers in the city, and himself a maltster, is sufficient answer to this. The Sunday question is settled for many years to come. The Germans have gained their victory in that fight. The Republican party did not oppose them at the time, and it certainly has no intention of doing so in the future.

As to Mr. Huck, the Staats-Zeitung expres s itself as satisfied that he will administ the office honestly, though it does not make the admission in a very gracious manner, and it refers in contemptuous terms to the Germans who have exercised their right of sup porting and voting for him. All this, how ever, is probably the result of a heated campaign which has not yet had time enough to

THE LESSON OF THE STATE ELECTIONS. UNE the news that Pennsylvania, Massa chusetts, New Jersey, Minnesota, and Wistrue import of the facts. The Democratic victory in Massachusetts in 1874 was won on a side issue.-Prohibition. That in New York was mainly a personal tribute to Mr. THERE for his ability and patriotism in the prosecution and conviction of Tweep, but the result in both cases was aided by a popular disgust and discontent on the part of the people with the Republican majority in Congress which had permitted and largely shared in the back-pay swindle, and in various job bing and speculative legislation. In Ohio there was a change in favor of the Democratic party which promised to be permanent. In Pennsylvania, the Democrats in 1874 took advanced ground in favor of hard-money and against inflation, and they elected a large majority of the Congressmen, and also a major-ity of both branches of the Legislature, securing a Senator of the United States. There, too, the Democratic success promised to be permanent. Confident of carrying, in the event of the nomination of any respectable Democrat for President, the whole or substantially the whole vote of the old Southern States, Ohio and Pennsylvania certain, and possibly New York. Indiana, and the Pacific States, would place the election of a Demo cratic candidate beyond all question. In the meantime, both parties in Congress under the lead of ignorant men and weak demagogues, were drifting wildly on the question of national finances : the disastrous panic failed to develop a statesman willing and able to meet the question. There were scores of adventurers with patent devices which they noisily proclaimed, and Congress actually patched up and passed one of these schemes, which proposed to cure the evil of inflation by further inflation! The country was as distracted as was Congress, and every county orator had his pet scheme for curing bad money by making it worse. The Presilent at this time arrested the attention of the country by vetoing the inflation bill and pointing out its inevitable disastrous results. His appeal evoked a prompt response from the intelligent and experienced men of all parties in the country. It strengthened the previous helpless minority in Congress, and ompelled the hesitating and the careless to meet the subject directly fairly. All over the country the cussion took a new shape. The growth of sound financial knowledge has ace then been steady, and in one-half States both parties have been educated up to the point that the proper substitute for evil is good, and for what is destructive that which

The Ohio Democracy numbered among its ablest men several experienced bard-money men; the history and traditions of the party were all on the side of hard-money as opposed to an irredeemable currency; but a faction of the party in Ohio, with a view of securing a local prestige, precipitately declared in favor of rag-money, and invited every ignoramus of rag-money, and in the in the country to go there and proclaim the in the country to go there and proclaim the in the state of them did not care a button, and there were most extravagant fallacies. The State of thousands of Republicans who would not have placed a straw in Hammo's way so long the Republicans at least until after the Presi-as the fight was simply between him and dential election, was canvassed as thoroughly as ever a State was canvassed. The hardmoney Democrats reluctantly voted with their party, thousands of rag-money Republicans voted for ALLEN and "more money," but the intelligence of the State, aroused by the disussion, revolted, and the State was recovered by the Republicans on a specie-payment plat-form. Pending this contest in Ohio, the Democrats of Pennsylvania abandoned their speciepayment doctrine of the previous year, and, nder the lead of local demagogues, adopted the rag-baby. Especial hopes were based on the idea that Pennsylvania was a workshop, and that two-thirds of the workmen wer idle for want of money to employ them. The 3-65 bond delusion was born in Phila delphia, where its parent represented that tens of thousands of working people had been driven to become tramps because Congress would not inflate the currency. But the dis cussion of the paper-money question, begun by the President's vete and carried on in Ohio, proved disastrous; Pennsylvania rejected the whole rag-money lunacy, and the Democratic ascendency in that State was lost. The elections of Tuesday are evidence that the Democratic party North has gone to pieces on the currency question. A few thousands of inflationists in New York avenged" the lost cause by voting on Wednesday against the Democratic State ticket. But the fact remains that the Democratic party, repudiated in Ohio and Pennsylvania, has gone in twain, and the factions now exist merely to destroy each other. There can be no compromise between these factions; whichever triumphs in the National Convention will have to encounter the opposition of the other. The Republicans may find in this a warning to themselves. The country will not tolerate nor approve an inflation party in 1876. The Republican party must be a hard-money and anti-inflation party in 1876, or go to pieces as has the Democratic party. If evil counsels and wicked combinations shall place the Republican party in even an equivocal position on this question in 1876, then it will amount to an invitation to all friends of a sound national currency, no matter of what party, to unite for the common purpose of saving the country from general ruin and disaster.

BRIGHAM YOUNG'S MISFORTUNES.

And now come the inexorable ministers of ustice and lay their ruthless hands upon the Prophet, the head of the Church of the Latter-Day Saints, the Lord's anointed, the Chief of the Harem, -BRIGHAM YOUNG himself. Whether these ruthless hands are laid upon him justly or unjustly remains for the Courts to decide. Whether the law in compelling him to pay alimony to a seventeenth wife, and imprisoning him in default, is not recognizing concubinage, remains to be seen but legally or illegally, justly or unjustly, it is none the less true that the Prophet sighs behind prison-bars, and curses the day when his eyes first lit upon ANN ELIZA, wife No. 17 and he, although in his decadence, a sere and yellow leaf, became infatuated with her pretty face, never dreaming of the miseries she was bringing into the harem, where peace and harmony had ruled before.

It will be remembered that ANN EDIZA seventeenth wife, some time ago took it into her head that she was not allowed pocketmoney pro rata with the other wives; that the Prophet visited the others more frequently than her; that they could ride out with him, and go to the temple and to the opera with him, while she was compelled to remain at home and look through her lattice at thes unpleasant sights. So she brought suit for divorce and alimony against BRIGHAM before Judge McKean, obtained a decree with a verdict of $3,000 to pay her lawyers and alimony, since when she has mounted rostrum and nightly tells her troubles consin, and perhaps New York, which had and wrongs to wondering andiences last year voted Democratic, had now gone as and fill her pockets. The Prophet paid the and wrongs to wondering audiences costs like a man, but he kicked at the alimony, and has ever since kicked at it and refused to settle. Shortly after this disposition of the case, Judge McKran resigned. His successor had hardly become warm in his seat before he discovered that the alimony had not been paid, notified the Prophet of his delinquency, and, upon finding his still obdurate and recalcitrant, thrust him behind the prison-bars, to remain until paid, unless his attorneys have skill enough and law enough on their side to secure his release There is a ludicrous and a serious side to this encounter between the Prophet and the blind goddess. There will not b wanting those who will look upon incarceration as a species of poetical jus tice. This class of people will claim that they who dance shall pay the fiddler. The Prophet has spent the very heyday of his life with his numerous wives, and has had their consolation and sympathy, and lived in marital clover of a most luxuriant growth. The clover has not annoved him nor has it been mixed with weeds or thorns until now, because he was master in his own house, and as completely lord of his harem as the Grand Turk or the Caliph of Bagdad Now that he has reached the autumn of life when the joys of the world and wedlock are not so keen and the passions cool, they will ciaim that he is not deserving of sympathy that he has had his good times and ought no to complain when times are changed: that since he has seventeen wives and forty-two others sealed, and is thus fifty-nine times more married than other men, he should not complain if he suffers fifty-nine times more than the average man who has the misfortune to have but one wife. There is also a ludicrous feature to the affair in the despair which must seize upon the fifty-nine wives as they behold their husband behind the grates, they themselves being powerless to aid him with all the cunning of their fifty-nine heads or strength of their 118 arms. It is also ludicrous to think of the curses that must be heaped upon the head of ANN ELIZA from these fifty-nine mouths, and of the 590 fingers which ache to get hold of ANN ELIZA's pretty tresses,—the false and fickle ANN ELIZA. has brought them and the partner of their fifty-nine bosoms into this trouble. But, with all the ludicrousness of the situation, there is a serious side to it from a legal point of view, and, if the legal point be a valid one, then the prosecution of the Prophet looks very much like persecution. ANN ELIZA having become his wife and his seventeenth wife under Mormon law, is she not under the United States law a concubine and no wife at all? Can the law of the United States recognize this woman, the legal wife of one man now living. the divorced wife of a second man, and the seventeenth wife of a third party, who made her alliance with the latter knowing that sixpleted his education in Germany, having a student in the University of Halle, a teen others took precedence of her,-can the law recognize her as a proper subject for divorce and alimony? This is the question which the Prophet has already brought before the Attorney-General at Washington. The decision may result in his release, and any ELIZA may then whistle for her alimony. If it does not, then ANN FLIZA will be an object of envy to all the rest of the fifty-nine.

A DOOMED CITY: VENICE. It seems that the Italian Parliament is onfronted with a more serious problem than the dredging of the Tiber and the purification of the Reman Campagna,-project which the patriot GARIBALDI introdu attention. If the Venice correspondent of the London Times is to be believed, the "Queen of the Adriatic" is a doomed city; and its destruction is now regarded as so cer tain, if left to itself, that the Italian Government has appointed several scientific Comnissions to ascertain the actual imminence of the danger, and to suggest ways and means whereby it may be averted. The Times correspondent says that the danger is grave and mminent, and the remedies suggested remote and uncertain. The danger is not from the sinking of the city, which has been going on for centuries, but from the filling up of the lagoons from the washings of the rivers, after which it is held that the whole district will be swallowed up by the sea, and that the last vestige of the great commercial and republican people of early times will disappear. There are in Venice what are called the "living lagoons and the "dead lagoons," the former of which are flooded by the ordinary tide, and the latter only reached by very high tides. The ancient Venetian Republic apprehended the danger of disease and disaster from the rivers,—the first from the mixture of the salt and fresh water, and the second from the washing of sands,-and so contrived to turn the courses of the Rivers Brenta, Bacchiglione, Piave and Sile, and forced them to empty into the sea outside the lagoon. But the Brenta fre quently overflowed its banks, spreading disease throughout the adjoining districts, and the Austrian Government, then in dominion and at the instance of the Province of Padua diverted the Brenta from its channel, and permitted it to empty into the lagoon. was in 1840, and ever since that time its de posits have been filling up the bed of the lagoon, raining the commerce of Chioggia, a seaport town of 27,000 inhabitants near by, infecting the surrounding district with marsh fevers, and threatening the existence of Venice.

The problem is now to dredge and clear out the lagoon, and again turn the course of the Brenta. An engineer named LAUCIANA has a plan which is approved by Prof. MINICH, scientist of high standing, for rectifying the course of the Brenta, and at the same time avoiding the overflow which damaged the Padua districts before; but the cost of this scheme is estimated at 7,500,000 lire (about $1,500,000), a sum at which the impoverished Italian Government must hesitate. It is proper to say that there is another view of the subject, not altogether unsupported by scientific men, which holds that, instead of turning away the course of the Brenta and the other rivers, they should be assisted in filling up the lagoon, and thus eventually making an inland city and terra firma out of Venice as the only hope of its future existence. The problem is certainly a serious as well as an interesting one.

The New York Herald of Monday had a few last words to say in support of Recorder Hack-err, anti-Tammany nomines for re-election, and, as being the most effective, quotes them from his famous letter resenting Tammany's attempt to dictate the removal and appointment of his court officials. The Washington special of the Herald concerning Minister Cusmino's memo-randum on Cuban affairs reads thus:

randim on Guoan affairs reads thus:

The President has not been without hope, etc.

In the railroad news, in a letter from Turkey, in the report of the yacht race, in the stock market quotation, in fact in every article over half column in length in the Herald of that day, is pterpreted into the middle of an importan tence "Recorder HACKETT says," followed by an extract from his letter. Even the reports of Sunday's sermons are not free of it, and the Herald prints Mr. BEECHER thas:

If have not had my heart so filled with thanksgiving for a great—Recorder Hackert says: "If there exist an office which more than any other one should be usterly divorced from pohitical considerations it is that of a Cierk or Deputy-Clerk of a Criminal Court"—while as when I listened to him and saw one person rise with a prayer for a child and another with a prayer for a drunken husband, and so on all around the room.

After that, who will deny that the Herald, i the art of "keeping it before the people," sur passes all its contemporaries?

The mouths of the artists who exhibited our recent Exposition will water as they read of a sale of six paintings in New York the other day, which brought respectively $11,000, $12,000 $10,000, $8,000, $4,000, and $5,000. The pict ures were "MOLIERE and Louis XIV. at Break SONIER; "The Day's Work Over," by Jules BRETON; "Young Gauls Instructed in Manly Sports," by ALEA-TADEMA; "Indirect Contributions," by the late EDOUARD ZAMACOIS; an Spanish Mail Coach Station," by J. G. Vin The works were formerly owned by a gentle man in New York, who sold them to HENEY G. STEBBINS, the American art collector—now liv-ing in Paris—at the above figures. It is a mat ter of regret that such representative picture as these should leave the country.

Since he paused in his labor of no CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS for something, Sam Bowles has grown concerned about the lack of positive leaders, and that the people are left to lead the so-called leaders. He says:

lead the so-called leaders. He says:

Both parties are suffering to-day for leaders. That isn't the worst of it; the country is suffering, too. There are plenty of politicians, Democratic and Republican, who pretend to the title and get it accorded to them by admiring organs. But they are, in nearly every case, the merest pluchbeck imitation. They don't lead: they wait to see which way the party is going, and then go along. They are indifferent as to the direction, or the rate of speed. Their only and consuming anxiety is, not to get ahead of the party, or be left behind it, or by any accident get separated from it on the march. This is not leadership: if is cowardly, calculating selfshress. The practical result is, that the people have to absolutely push these "leaders" along. Whatever progress is made is made in spite of them.

Mr. Bowles has forgotten Aband; let him debts contracted after a given date be made payable in gold or its equivalent in greenbacks.

People would then know, argues the Republican, that when they contracted for a dollar they would get it, and business would not be embarrassed by the fluctuations in greenbacks. Precisely. But if the Legal-Tender act were repealed, who could tell what might be the cost of the gold to pay the debts when due? If the Legal-Tender act be repealed, what would be done with the greenbacks?

The Times recently put at the head of its ed itorial corps a writer brought from one of the rural precincts in Indiana, and this is the way he

The erection of a statue in Baltimore to the memory of the erratic genius, EDGAR ALLAN POE, has brought out several different versions of his last hours. Most accounts of his dem have represented him as dying from delirium tremens, though differing in the details; but a Dr. J. J. Moran relates how Poz was brought into a hospital in Baltimore, of which he had charge at the time, and that Poz, though in stupor, had no indications of liquor about him. This gentleman says that Poz refused to take transport me to the Elysian bowers of the undis-covered spirits, I would not taste it "; and that he sent the tenderest messages to his mother and his intended wife. The account is certainly ore comfortable than the others.

The New York Herald sees nothing in the Cuban flurry renewed by the discussion of Minister Cushing's note, and remarks of Cuba:

ter Cushing's note, and remarks of Cuba:

We do not need the country. We do not want any trouble with spain. We do not care to offend the susceptibilities of the other powers, who, when they are not robbing their neighbors, constantly declaim against the sin of robbers and national ambition. We have as much as we can do in this generation to obliterate the traces of the war, and re-establish our finances. The annexation of Cuba, except in one way, that of harmonious concession on the part or Spain, would bring on a war which, even if we had a series of uninterrupted victories, would cost us more even in money losses alone to our counteree, our industry and our credit, than ten Cubas would be worth.

Therefore, all that the Government can well do with Cuba is to recognize the insurrection so far as to concede it belligarent rights.

As to the currency issue in the next Congres the New York Times, commenting on the proba-ble course of the Southern members, says: ble course of the Southern members, says:

The South may acquise in the results of the War, and hesitate to do anything that bears even a semblance of bad faith toward the Union, the perpetuation of which was the object of the War. But it is plain that the Southern mind will be more count to any placing the semble of the war to be supported than the Northern mind would be. Direct repudiation is not thought of and would not be proposed by any one; but indirect measures to secure the same end are distinctly favored by prominent men in the Democratic party, and the arguments in support of them will find favorable soil in the inevitable predilections of the South. Among these measures, the most formidable will be the postponement of the specie payments and the direct or indirect increase of the Government notes. If the Southern representatives are not found actively sustaining these, we shall be greatly and agreeably surprised.

Mr. LANE, the newly-elected Congressmi from Oregon, is collecting material for what it is claimed will be a startling expose to be made at the approaching session of the condition of affairs in Alaska under the management of the Alaska Commercial Company and the military authorities which there take place of a Territorial Government. Mr. Lank's expose will doubtless consist largely of buncombe, and will go for very little until verified by proof. But it will not be wholly bootless if it leads to the development of the facts as to the alleged prac-tical enslavement of the entire native population and as to the extraordinary monopoly which it is asserted it exercises. The kind of toleration which the Church of Rome believes in is well set forth in the following extract from a recent address of the Pope to deputation of pilgrims:

Why is it permitted here, here in Rome, in the centre allowing to the masters of error to teach all sorus or hereay, and at the same time to pester and torture cierical teachers, and especially nuns, with treacher-ous examinations, setting up judges in matters about which they know nothing; following their own

Lexnon, Oct. 21.—A meeting of the Turkish bendholders was held at the Cannon Street Hotel on Turkish bendholders was held at the Cannon Street Hotel on Turkish.

The room in which the meeting was held will contain 1,000 persons, and it was growded. Mr. Childers presided, and begged those present to be "cautious and moderate" in what they might say, in order not to oftend the Turkish Government! The absence of "irritating language," he thought, "would very greatly conduce to the success" of the attempt to persyste the Sublime Porce to reconsider its recent. magnage. In thoose, word and very greaty conduce to the success" of the attempt to persuate the Sublime Porce to reconsider its recent step. The bondisolders tried hard to follow Mr. Chider's advice, but their anger got the best of the nocessionally. The capital depreciation in Tunish bonds during the last six months amounts to no less than £37,950,000, or $183,-150,000; and now another £6,000,000 or loss is be borne. The only action taken by the neeting was to request the Council of Foregue Bendholders to see what could be done to prevent the Sublime Porte from carrying out its project of repudiation, and to ask for the assistance of Her Majesty's Government in this undertaking. The speeches were singularly hopekes and wandering. One gentleman, who cans £150,000 of Turkish bonds, said that he believed the Sultan would do the right thing if the preserve representations were made to him. Mr. nopers and wandering. One genteman, who can stife, 000 of Turkish bonds, said that he believed the Sultan would do the right thing if proper representations were made to him. Mr. Hammond said that the proposed resolutions led in reality to nothing. The necessary thing was to call on the Governments of England, France, and Italy, to protect the bondholders. It was only twenty years since the best blood of England, France, and Italy, had been shed for Turky; and, since, these Governments had speat £200,000,000 to maintain Turkey's independence. The bondholders had been induced to led their money to Turkey on the representations of the Governments of England and France, and it was intolerable that these Governments should now leave them in the lurch If Turkey was allowed to cheat her creditors in this manuer, other Governments would luch. If Turkey was allowed to cheat her creditors in this manuer, other Governments would follow suit. However, some concession might be made. It was notorious that all the Turkish loans were issued at prices far below par, and be thought that the bondholders might weil afford to reduce their capital to 10 per cent above the price at which the loans were issued. They would thus relieve Turkey of £50,000,000 stering. This proposition, was received with grouns and TORK, Nov. 8.—The Panama Star and Broil of Oct. 21, just received, has the de-tals of the great fire in Iquique, the news of which has already been received by telegraph. The fire broke out in the German Club House shout 2 o'clock in the morning of the 7th of October, and before noon three-fourths of Iquique had vanished in smoke. Twenty-four blocks of houses, stores, banks, etc., were con-tained. Merchant vessels in the harbor cent their ashore, and all civilians, foreign resistant, ashore, and all civilians, foreign resistant, ashore, the police, and the authorities gled to subdue the flames, but in vain. served to kindle the fire hidden by the saltpetre. The fire swept like a burricane over the city. Houses fell like pasteboard palaces. The damage done was immense. Five millions in hard dollars will not cover it, and in Iquique no insurance could be obtained, from the very nature of the ground and the material employed for building purposes. The principal edifices burned are the branch of the National Bank, the Town-House, the Iquique and Commercial Rotels, the house occupied by the Pacific Steam Navigation Company, the market-place, and the favorite club-house of the city. Many families are homeless. The President of Peru has ordered the authorities to use 6,000 reals for their relief. In Lima the different nationalities contributed liberally. Many merchants had taken advantage of the reduced tariff and dispatched a large amount of merchandise, nearly all of which is now destroyed, and now the merchants find themselves absolutely bankrupt, their liabilities, owing to the disaster, being infinitely in excess of their assets. Their warehouses, in which large quantities of nitrate were stored, close to the sea, were saved, but large quantities of coal, a costly article in Iquique, were burned.

FIRE AND THE SWORD.

London Times.

SANTANDER, Oct. 15.—It is impossible for any one not on the spot to realize the wanton devastation of property and barbarity to persons with which the civil waz, is being carried on by the combatants in the Basque Provinces and Navarre. Mady an English tourist who has entered Spain by Irun, en route to Sebastian, must remember the fair country, sprinkled with farmhouss, orchards, maize fields, and groves on gentie acclivities which spread between those two places. It is now almost a wilderness of trampled crops, trees destroyed and homesteads burnt. The same picture of desolation presents itself in Navarre, except that instead of orchards the vineyards are cut down with hatchets by the Government troops. With this material ruin, the savage spirit of the war becomes more intense, and, although neither party publicly admits the act, scarcely any quarter is given on either side. The reprisals of Gen. Trillo go too far, and are cruelly unjust, because the places he has directed to be destroyed are open towns, or rather villages, not occupied militarily by the onemy; whereas Hernani, Guetaria, and San Sebastian, which are being cannonaded by the Carlists, play the part of fortresses, and are therefore liable to be fired upon. The peaceful places thus doomed by the Alfonsine chief also contain the houses, shops, stores, and furniture, belonging to numbers of Liberals. Supporters of the Government, obliged to fly or expelied their houses by the Carlists, will think their devotion to it ill-requited by this wanton destruction of their property. The same remark applies to the bombardment of the fishing villages along the Biscayan coast by the iron-clad Vittoria. I learn from a trustworthy quarter that not withet anding the efforts of the Minister of War in Madrid, it is becoming doubtful wiether the intended antumn campaign will be undertaken. The pacification of Catalonia, ating a diversion in favor of Navarre and the Basque Provinces, where the intention of the Government to suppress the fueros of the latter and devastate both has created a bad impression and strengthened the Carlist party.

A PROPOSED COMPROMISE.

Tolosa, Oct. 16.—Proposals for a Convenio between the party of Queen Isabella and the Carlists, with the object of placing the ex-Queen on the throne at Madrid in the place of her son, while the four northern provinces were to form a new kingdom under the rule of Don Carlos, have been formally submitted to the latter by the leaders of the Moderate party. King Charles has indignantly rejected these overtures, declaring that, as King of all the Spaniards, he cannot listen to a proposal which seeks to draw him from the path of duty and of honor.

THE EX-KHAN OF KHOKAND. ORENBURG, Sept. 22.—Kudoyar, the fugitive Khan of Khokand, arrived here with his suite and some of his numerous wives on the 13th of this month. On the 14th he was received with almost regal honors by the Governor-General, and yesterday, being Sunday, military parade was held in honor of the Khan. For the reception the Governor-General provided a smart Cossack escort, and assembled the Chiefs of all the departments of service.

The Khan is a stout, open-countenanced, middle-aged man, but the members of his suite are most unpreposeessing gestlemen, some of them being most crestfallen and sinister-looking.

The Khan as he meand the members of the suite are most unpreposeessing gestlemen, some of them being most crestfallen and sinister-looking. them being most crestfallen and sinister-looking. The khan, as he moved along the street with his escort of Coesacks, looked anything but disheartened by his late misfortunes. The bazaar story is that the Khan fled his country, taking with him 9,000,000 of silver roubles and 100 wives, and an exciting picture is made of the endless teams of cauxis and oxen crossing the prairies loaded with the treasure of this fugitive Princs. A certain element of truth there is in this story, for, although there were not 100 wives, there were some 80 or 90, and there was a great deal of treasure. It is said the Khan deposited 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 of roubles in the Imperial Bank at Tashkend.

Kudoyar has requested to be allowed to have an interview with the Czar, but he has been told to remain for awhile at Orenburg, the reason of the delay, it is said, being the absence of His Majesty on a visit to the Crimes. It is supposed here that this Prince stands, a good chance of being reinstalled once the pacification is complete. It is also thought that one of the principal objects in seeing the Emperor is to recover some millions of roubles he is owed by the merchants of Khokand, to whom he has advanced money to trade with. It is considered that Kudoyar deserves well of Russia, for he has been the foremost to favor the cause of the Czar, and has assisted in the subjugation of Central Asia to Russian rule. In the event of non-restoration, we shall probably have this Khan settling down here with all his millions and all his wives, and he will trade with Asia.

There can be no doubt this affair at Khokand has been a very unpleasant one. Fortunately, the insurrection is quelled and order restored, for, with a handful of troops at such a distance, and so near the end of the fine weather, the outbreak was fraught with considerable danger. The outbreak is treated by the officials here as one of vendetta. Kndovar is known to have been guilty of great crucity to the father of the Chief by whom he has now been compelled to leave his Khanate.

PARIS. Oct. 15.—Official returns published today announce that the value of French importations during the first nine months of the current year amounted to 2,732,000,0007. against 2,826,-000,0007. in the corresponding period of 1874. The decrease occurs chiefly in alimentary products, which were of the value of 556,009,-0007. against 715,000,0007. in 1874. Raw materials for industrial purposes have only slightly decreased—from 1,708,000f. in 1874 to 1,702,000,000f. in 1875. On the other hand, the value of manufactured goods imported increased from 287,000,000f. in the first nine months of 1874 to 354,000,000f. in the present year. The exports during the same period are of the declared value of 2,934,000,000f. against 2,794,000,000f. in 1874. showing an increase of 140,000,000f. Among these are manufactured goods amounting to 1,648,000,000f., against 1,624,000,000f. in 1874. The value of raw produce and alimentary products amounted to 1,136,000,000. against 1,016,000,000f. in 1874.

COMMISSIONER PRATT'S REPORT. Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.
Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—Commission Pratt has about completed his report. It is one of the most comprehensive papers on the subject of Internal Revenue yet prepared at the Treasury. The subject of whisky frauds has received much attention. The weak points in the law, and the regulations pertaining to whisky matters, as brought to light by great frauds discovered last spring, are clearly pointed out. The recommendations of new legislation in connection with this branch of the subject are mainly confined to providing new checks for rectifiers, as the laws which now apply to them have been found wanting, and new guards are shown to be necessary in order to bring rectifiers under stricter surveillance. The new system of keeping accounts with distillers will be described at length. The report will show the most efficient condition of the force of special agents and the outside ring of Western officers who were involved in the discovered officers who were involved in the discovered frauds.

THE NATIONAL BANKS.

The number of National Banks organized within the past three months is sixteen, with an authorized capital of $2,050,000. In the same time $6,752,536 of legal tenders have been deposited for the redemption of circulation, and over $5,500,000 of it has actually been retired and burned, and in the three months $1,916,710 additional circulation has been issued to new banks. The total number of banks organized during the year ending Nov. 1 is 117, with an authorized capital of $12,104,000. This includes two gold banks, with an aggregate capital of $200,000.

INTERNAL REVENUE.

Internal revenue collections since July 1 have been at the rate of $117,000,000. As this period covers a dull portion of the year, it is estimated at the Department that on this basis the receipts for the year will be $125,000,000.

The distillery of Ezekiel Myers, and rectifying The distillery of Ezekiel Myers, and rectifying-house of M. & E. Myers, at Petersburg, Va., have been seized for the same kind of frauds discovered at St. Louis, Chicago, and Milwankee. The amount of fraud thus far discovered is $10,000, and this has been increasing every day. The goods of these firms have been found in San Francisco, New York, and Boston. The frauds were discovered by comparison of papers received at the departments by the new system of checks and guards lately adopted.

LAND SWINDLES.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 3.—In the forthcoming annual report of the Commissioner of the General Land Office he calls attention to the fact that some of the extreme Western railroads have succeeded in selling in the aggregate many thousand acres of worthless lands to immigrants under the representation that the soil was very productive, when they knew that the land was undit for farming purposes. By such false representations many of the poor immigrants have been deceived, and they are left without any resource to recover it back. The Commissioner desires that this matter may have the attention of Congress, so that the practice of imposing on the poor immigrants may be broken up.

On and after the 1st of December the 4:55 afternoon train for Cincinnati, over the Pennsylvania Railroad, will be started an hour later, and include one or more postal railway cars, which are to arrive, as at present, in Pittsburg at 7:30 a.m., and in Cincinnati at 5 p. m. on the following day, and in St. Louis between 5 and 6 o'clock next morning. The limited mail train will still be dispatched from New York daily at 4:30 a. m.

CROOKED WHISKY.

Two Prominent and Wealthy Citizens of St. Louis Indicted Testerday. Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribus

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 3.—The United States Grand Jury reopened the war on the Whisky Ring to-day by summoning before it several prominent persons, who are supposed to know all about the various phases of the crooked business in St. Louis, and who are now for the first time more than willing to impart all, and even more, than they know if they can save themselves by so doing. The chief one of these was John Fitzroy, late Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue for this District, who yesterday pleaded guilty to two indictments. It is asserted on undoubted authority that the dovernment promised to hold him harmless if he would plead guilty and teil ail he knew of the collections and disbursements of the corrupt men in this district. For this reason his appearance before the Grand Juty was the cause of much excitement among the members of the ring, and their consternation was quite evident. Fitzroy was subjected to a long and exhaustive examination to-day, and will appear again to-morrow. As the result of the testimony, indictments were immediately preferred against William McKee and Constantine Maguire, the latter late Collector of this District, both of them old and wealthy citizens of St. Louis and highly respected for their probity and business integrity. The general opinion is that the Government will not be able to sustain the indictments in either of these cases, and that both of he would plead guilty and tell all he knew of ments in either of these cases, and that both of the indicted individuals will come out thoroughly vindicated.

Sr. Louis, Mo., Nov. &—In the United States District Court, to-day, argument was heard on the demurrer to ten of the fourteen counts in an indictment charging Gen. John McDonald, ex-Supervisor of Internal Revenue in this district, with possessing knowledge and information of certain violations of the Revenue law by distillers and rectifiers here, and failing to report to his superior officer, and also of conspiring with these parties to defrand the Government. The demurrer was sustained as to five counts, still leaving eight counts standing against the accused.

FIRE UNDERWRITERS. Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.
MILWAUKEE, Nov. 3.—The Board of Fire Underwriters to day met and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Samuel M. Ogden; Treasurer, F. W. Jacobi; Secretary, W. B. Brown; Executive Committee, C. J. Cary, J. A. Pierce, and John Hathaway.

NOCTURNAL DEVIL-FISH. When on their way home Tnesday night, Detectives Planigan and Simmons had their Detectives Flanigan and Simmons had their attention attracted by a noise in a grocery store kept by R. Law at the corner of Clinton and Adams streets. An investigation showed that two burglars were busy at work clearing out the store. The "lookout" gave the alarm and made good his escape. The man inside amused himself for a while by shying wood and coal through the windows at the detectives. After his supply of missiles became exhausted the officers entered, and at the points of their revolvers forced him to surrender. He gave the name of James Murphy, and when brought to the station he was recognized as "Squash" Murphy, a notorious and old offender. He was held by Justice Scully in $1,500 bail to the Criminal Court.

QUINCY, Ill., Nov. 3.—Gen. Singleton states hat the recent election of Directors of the Hannibal & St. Joseph Railroad Company is not in any sense a triumph over himself and Mr. Lamb, as has been announced. Gen. Baxter is a special friend of Gen. Singleton, and is the first choice of the latter gentleman for President of the Company. The Hon, J. Van Schaak, one of the ewly-elected Directors, is also a friend of Mr. Lamb and of Singleton, and one whom they both much desired to have in the Board. Gen. Singleton expresses the opinion that no one was dis-appointed with the result of the election, which does not affect the control of the road in any particular. He also believes it probable that, when the Directors meet in New York next week, they will elect Gen. Baxter President of the

A MEXICAN SCHEME.

Special Dispatch to The Chacogo Tribune.

DAVENPORT, In., Nov. 3.—Sor Ignacia Alas, Sor Dorrigoes, of Mexico, and J. E. Abbott, of the old Rockford construction fame, have been here for several days frying to organize a local company to construct railroads in Mexico. The scheme is apparently a good one, but there are a great many contingencies that make the pro-ject a "scary" one. It is proposed to organize a company under our general laws, build a road, and get the Government security of $16,000 per mile, besides local subscriptions, which are supposed to be enough to cover the cost of construction, civing the construction. supposed to be enough to cover the cost of con-struction, giving the corporators possession of the road free of cost. Committees have been appointed in this city and Rock Island to solicit names of members of the new company. The scheme looks like a swindle for private profit.

CHICAGO, CLINTON & WESTERN. Special Dispatch to The Chicago Trioune.

Iowa Crry, Ia., Nov. 3.—The Board of Directors of the Chicago, Clinton & Western Railroad to the Chicago, Clinton & Western Railroad to the Chicago, Clinton & Western Railroad. were in session here to-day, with a full attendance. The iron is laid on this road from Clinton ome 20 miles towards this city, and the grading s nearly all done to this point. Mr. E. F. Hinckley, who undertook to build this important lin of road, has been sick for a long time, which has delayed the work. The Board determined to-day to turn the work over to some other party, who will go right forward and complete it, anniess Mr. Hinckley will do so without further delay.

DECLINING TO ATTEND.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee in charge of the arrangements for the Southern Pacific Railroad Convention, held in St. Louis day before yesterday, the following communica tion from the Secretary of the Chicago Board of tion from the Secretary of the Chicago Board of Trade was read:

Resolved, That, in the present and prospective condition of the credit of the United States Government, this Board of Trade deem it unwise to ask the Government indorsement or guarantee to be used in the construction of a work such as is contemplated in the call for a National Convention in St. Louis, on Nov. 23, and, not wishing to embarrass the action of said Convention, or discurb its harmony, we respectfully decline the invitation of the Merchants' Exchange, with our acknowledgments of its courtesy in extending it.

PROTESTING AGAINST THE INCREASE.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 3.—The Merchants' Exchange, Cotton Exchange, and Board of Trade of this city have appointed a committee to take action regarding the resolution of the Convention of Railroad General Freight-Agents, held here last week, advancing the rate of freight to Reat St. Louis 6 cents per hundred, to make the Fast St. Louis 6 cents per hundred, to make the rate the same as to St. Louis. This action they denounce as in the interest of the bridge monopoly, and a tax upon the commerce of St. Louis amounting to $2,000,000 annually.

CHANGE OF BUSINESS RELATIONS. Special Dispatch to The Cheege Tribune.
CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 3.—An important raiload change will soon occur here. The Eric and Atlantic & Great Western will do business between Dayton and Cincinnati over the Dayton short line, C., C., C. & I., instead of consinuati, Hamilton & Dayton, as at present. This will be done by means of a transfer of cars, freight and passengers from broad to narrow trucks at Dayton and from narrow to broad. This change is due to the common interest in stock in the two roads.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.
RANTOUL, Ill., Nov. S.—Two hundred men have recently been employed on the Havana, Rantonl & Eastern Narrow-Gauge Road, with headquarters here. Seven miles are finished from here castward. To-day an engine and cars were received at Gilbert, 30 miles east of here, and track-laying began there. Forty miles will be completed this tall.

WALKING ON THE TRACK.

Special Disp atch to The Chacage Tr.bune.

Spainofield, Ill., Nov. 3.—A German named John Doerkler was run over to-day and killed by a switch engine on the Springfield Branch of the Ohio & Mississippi Railroad. He was walking on the track, and though his attention was called refused to leave the track. Deceased was 38 years of age, and had lived in this city for some-thing like eighteen years. He was, it is said, a man of liberal education, though he was disso-lute and did not apply himself to business, pre-ferring, it would seem, to live the life of an out-cast. He has distant relatives in the city.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Special Dispatch to The Caicago Tribune.

EAST SAGINAW, Mich., Nov. 3.—A shocking accident happened at King & Rust's, on the Saginaw Valley & St. Louis Road, Tuesday night. J. Bots ford and wife went to a neighbor's named C. S. Pratt to spend the evening, leaving two children a boy of 8 and a girl of 4, at home. During the evening Botsford's house was discovered on fire. Pratt was the first to reach it, and, in endeavoring to save the children, was burned to death, as was also the little girl. The boy escaped. Pratt leaves a wife and one child.

She was 15 years old. The fasher weighs over 200 pounds. No suspicion attaches to him.

FEMORAL FRACTURE. Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

Mason, Ill, Nov. 3.—A sad accident occurred here last night to a freight-conductor, Gilbert Baldwir, on an Illinois Central train. In uncoupling cars on a moving train at a road-crossing, his foot became fastened between a rail and a plank, and his thigh-tone was broken. He had great presence of mind, and hung on to the cars. He was carried to his home in Champaign.

A FATAL FALL. Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.
Osacz Mission, Kan., Nov. 3.—Last night
Thomas Dillon, a farmer living 4 miles from this place, having become intoxicated, in crossing the Neosho River on his way home rode his horse off the bridge abutment and fell 30 feet. Horse and rider fell on the hard ground and were both killed instantly. Dillon leaves a wife and six children. He was a well-to-do citizen.

A BOUBLE MARRIAGE AND ITS DISTRESSING SEQUEL. New York Times. BINGHAMTON, N. Y.. Nov. 1 .- A very sad

drowning accident occurred in the Susquehanna River at Unadilla on Thursday last: Maurice and William Goodrich, brothers, living in Worcester, N. Y., married sisters a fortnight since, and, on Wednesday last, returning home from their bridal trip, stopped at Unadilla to visit the family of Joseph Morehouse, whose wife was a sister of the brides. On Thursday, the bridal sater of the brides. On Thursday, the bridal party, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Morehouse, went out boat-riding on the river. A movement of some one of the party caused the boat to tip over to one side. Frightened at the careening of the boat, the ladies sprang suddenly to the opposite side, and the catastrophe that was feared from the tipping befolt the party in the attempt to avert it, and they were left struggling in the water. Mrs. Morehouse and Mrs. Maurice Goodrich seized hold of Mr. Morehouse, who was nearest them in the water. He was formerly a sailor, and was an expert swimmer, and, but for this action of the two ladies, would have succeeded in rescuing one of them certainly, and possibly both. As it was, they held both of his arms close to his side, and all three sank to the bottom of the river together. Maurice Goodrich, being encumbered with his overcost, was unable to keep up until he reached the shore, and shared the fate of the other three. William Goodrich had been rowing the boat, and was in his shirt-sleeves when the accident happened, He grasped his bride when she appeared on the surface, and being a good swimmer, succeeded in reaching the shore with her by pushing her ahead of him and occasionally lifting her from the water. Leaving her supporting herself by some willow-bushes on the bank, Goodrich hastened back to the assistance of the others, but they had all disappeared before he reached the fatal spot. A search for the bodies was at once begun, and those of Mr. and Mrs. Morehouse and Mr., Goodrich were soon found. Mrs. Goodrich's body had not been recovered at last accounts. It is said that the Goodriches were twin brothers and their brides twin sisters.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

DECATUR, Ill., Nov. S.—Last night about 7 o'clock the fine brick block on Merchants street, o'clock the fine brick block on Merchants street, occupied mostly as wholesale establishments, was discovered to be on fire, and never in the history of this city has it had so narrow an escape from a sweeping and destructive confagration. Owing to the promptness and efficiency of our Fire Department, the city was saved with but small loss, not exceeding $3,000 or $4,000. The fire is supposed to have originated from a cigar dropped by some one of the employes in the third story.

CORRECTION.

In the account of the Virginia City fire, republished in The Tribune of Wednesday from the San Francisco Chronicle, it was stated that the Clay Insurance Company, of Newport, Ky, had suffered losses to the extent of $90,000. A dispatch received yesterday by the agents of the Clay in Chicago states that the Company had withdrawn from Virginia City before the fire, and, consequently, did not lose anything.

NEAR OSWEGO, ILL. Oswego, Ill., Nov. 3.—The barn of J. B. Hanley, miles east of this place, was burned last Mo day night about 11 o'clock, supposed to be the work of an incendiary. The barn was nearly new, being built this summer, and contained five horses, harnesses, farming-tools, oats, bay, etc., all of which was burned, making a loss of fully 83,500. Insurance, we understand, for $1,400.

THE TURE.

American Racers Going to England. Special Correspondence of The Chicago Tribune. NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Mr. M. H. Sanford, whose intention of taking a stable of American racers to England has been already announced in your to England has been already announced in your columns, shipped the horses last Thursday on the steamship Holland, and yesterday took passage on the Celtic. The following are the horses with which he will test the question of the relative racing-powers of English and American stock: Bay horse Preakness, aged, by Lexington out of Eay Leaf; brown horse Mate, 6 years, by Australian, out of Mattie Gross; bay coll Bay Final, 2 years, by Lexington, out of Eay Leaf; bay colt Bay Eagle, 2 years, by Baywood, out of Earring; brown colt Brown Prince, 1 year, by Lexington, out of imported Britannia IV.; bay colt Bald Eagle, 1 year, by Baywood, out of Dot; bay filly Start, 1 year, by Imported out of Dot; bay filly Start, 1 year, by imported

IV.; bay coit Baid Eagle, 1 year, by Baywood, out of Dot; bay filly Start, I year, by imported Glenelg, out of Stamps; chestnut filly Donna, 1 year, by Baywood, out of Dot.

The interest in these horses will more immediately settle on the oldsters Preakness and Mate, as, if they survive the perils of the ocean verage and become acclimated by next April, they will be entered for our races and handraps. Of the youngsters, Brown, Prince, and Baid Eagle are entered for the 2,000 guineas, Dorby, St. Leger, and Grand Prix de Paris of 1877, and Start is entered for the Oaks of that season. While good things may be expected from all these horses eventually, the initiation of what may be considered a series of international races will devolve upon Preakness and Mate. The former horse possesses all the necessary quantifications of a successful cup-racer, being full of pluck, a good weight-carrier, very fast, and a splendid stayer. Mate, whose dam is of the Lexington strain, has already shown himself to be a good one at all distances, his victory over Madre at 2 miles and a furlong placing him in the front ranks of American racers. It is probable that he will be entered for next year's Cambridgeshire and Cesarewitch, and if he is then in as good form as when a few days age at Jerome Park no other horse was brought against him, and is fairly handicapped, he will make a good effort to score a double creats,—a feat as yet naccomplished. Bay Fund is Preskiness' full brother, and though he has bot to Tom Ochittree the last two of the three races he has won this season, good things are expected from him. Of the youngster's, Start is the most promising. She is by imported Gleneig, who is by Citadel out of Ea'ta, and in his fines was among the best, especially in distance-run-ning. Her dam Stamps is by Lexington out of who is by Citadel out of Batta, and in his find-was among the best, especially in distance-ren-ning. Her dam Stamps is by Lexington out of Baldred, by Glencoe, and is full sister of Mon-archist, who beat Harry Basset: at land 4 miles. The absence of Mr. Sauford from the American turf for the next two or three years will be re-gretted by sporting-men, but if his stable suc-ceds in winning a fair proportion of the races they will enter for, and thus make up for the lack of success which has attended emilar ven-tures previously made, ho will not have absent-ed himself in vain.

Green, an American old enough to know better, thought it extremely funny to vote for Hesing in the Second Precinct of the Fifth Ward, and then go to the First Precinct in the same Ward and vote for Keeley. Perhaps he also thinks it funny to be under $300 bail to the Criminal Court. Albert Coates, a negro, who attempted to vote twice in the Third Ward, was held od the testimony of John A. Patterson and John Howard in $500 bail to the Criminal Court. A third violator, named William H. Austin, was also held in $500 bail.

but on the bottom lands, where the bulk of the corn crop is raised, it is very wet, being still saturated by the rains of summer, which threatened to drown to out. Some corn already cribbed is reported to be heated on the cob so badly as to necessitate the taking of it out for artificial drying, and some has spoiled past nedemption. It is not probable, therefore, that with so much moisture yet remaining in the corn it will come forward very freely at present. That which has reached here has sold at very low figures (if not kiln-dried), and the parties to whom it was consigned do not advise that the experiment be repeated just yet. The crop is musually good, considering the wet summer, and there is no use in trying to force it to market soemer than it will bear. There are, however, some sections, which are bare of stock, where it is necessary to realize on a portion of the crop, in order to pay current expenses.

That is the case in some parts of lows, where the people have hitherto depended upon being able to feed

That is the case in some parts of tows, where the people have hitherto depended upon being able to feed their new corn to hogs driven in from Kaneas and alissouri to be fattened. The farmers of those States have got corn of their own this year, and consequently the hogs are being fattened at home. We shall probably receive a larger proportion of the Iowa corn crop this year than formerly, and for the above named rea-

PROVISIONS.

HOG PRODUCTS—Were quiet, except that there was a little more doing in meats; and the market was firm, with an upward tendency on most articles, though with no encouragement in the tone of advices from other points. Hogs were higher, but there was a larger supply, which invited the packers to enter the market and stiffen prices by their competition; and this promised a speedy increase in the offerings of product. Most of the Stock-Yards houses are now at work, and the season may be regarded as fairly work, and the season may be regarded as fairly opened, though most of them are running rather light, as there are not hops enough to keep them all active. It now looks as if present prices for hogs will be maintained, and at these figures recent sales of product for future delivery have been made at a loss. Hence the feeling was strong for future, while the tone of the market was dull for present delivery of the

The building and ground are valued at about $175.000, but are incumbered by four mortgages, one for $80,000, dated July 28, 1870, given by M. H. Merriman to the Connecticut Muthai Life Insurance Company, failing due in July, 1880, the payment of which was assumed by Mr. Hooley; a second for $20,000, dated Ang. St. 1872, given by Hooley and wife to L. Bearsley, and due in 1877; a third for $10,000, also to Bearsley, made Oct. 11, 1872, and due in five years, and a fourth mortgage by Hooley and wife, dated May 26, 1873, and held by J. C. Haines to secure $15,000 and other advances. This makes the incumbrances foot up $125,000, not including interest. The theatre and ground stand in the name of Simon Quinian, to whom they were conveyed to secure him against loss on his guaranty for the payment of $30,000 and interest on $63,000 of the above-named indebtedness. Quinian is still liable as guarantor for a large amount. They theatre and ground are valued at $25,000 above all incumbrances. The remaining assets are Hooley's interest in one-half the receipts of the theatre, which are deposited in Gourt every week by J. H. Haverly, who holds a half leasebold interest in the theatre with Thomas aleguire. The lease and Hooley's interest are all in hitigation, however, and the profits coming to Hooley are as yet to be decided by the Court. There is also as unknown amount due from Magnire on a lease made by him with Hooley for profits earned prior to Get. The Oldest Gray Goose.

DEBITS AND CREDITS.

Ira Holmes, the well-known real estate dealer, and former President of the defunct Manufacturers' National Bank, has at last succumbed to How It Was that Mr. Hooley Was the fluencial pressure, and gone into bankruptcy. His voluntary petition was filed yesterday, and shows that he owes $3,000 for taxes, $360,599.31 to secured creditors, and $168,572.21 to unsecured creditors. The following are the principal debts: Edgar Holmes, Rochester, N. Y., $4,000; Ira Holmes Also Inventories His Worldly debts: Edgar Holmes, Rochester, N. Y., $4,000;

A. Gregory, Chicago, $12,500; First National Bank, Mich., $4,159.78;
First National Bank, Beloit, $2,000;
Union National Bank, Oshkosh, $5,751; D. E. The many friends of that voteran theatre manager, Mr. R. M. Hooley, will be surprised to learn this morning that he has filed a voluntary position in bankruptcy. This act is due directly Seymour, $2,000; Thomas, Lazear & Hayden, Chicago, $2,500; A. A. Glenn, Mt. Sterling, $1,050; E. P. & S. L. Fuller, Grand Rapids, to the recent law-suits for the possession of Hooley's Theatre, and is the culmination of a complex series of troubles that have clouded the later days of the histrionic magnate, and blended with his dreams the hideous nightmare of approaching impecuniosity.

To begin with the beginning, as one might say, it was in the solemn month of October, 1872, that Hooley's Theatre was formally opened to the public with great eclat, and with inders of applause that echoed from the crowded pit to the topmost row of delighted juveniles in the celestial gallery. The total cost brought suit. The same bank has also sued him on two other notes for $8,000 given originally to of the building, exclusive of furniture, was on two other notes for $8,000 given originally to Jonas Hutchisson. The remainder of the debts are in small amounts under $1,000, and are due to various parties. Mr. Holmes also exhibits a formidable list of bills discounted on which he is liable, but which he thinks should be paid by the acceptors, as foliows: First National Bank, Iowa City, $31,960; H. H. Honors, $4,200; E. F. Dore, Chicago, $10,000; Charles Comstock, Ghicago, $13,000; note of Thomas Buchanan, Utics, of which the holder is unknown, $10,000; First National Bank, Chicago, $5,000; George Gardner, Chicago, $4,000; J. A. Ellison, Chicago, $652,57; Commercial Loan Company, Chicago, $525; a note made by E. F. Dore for $2,000, and five for $500 each by W. A. Jenkins, the present holder being unknown. times could be elected at a cost not exceeding $60,000. But that is neither here nor there. It need only he stated in general terms, for the early success of the theatre is well remem-bered, that during the first season the profits were over $35,000. Of this amount Mr. Hooley devoted $25,000 towards the liquidation of such debts as he had incurred in starting so extensive an enterprise. So far, more than good. But THERE CAME A TIME IN THE AFFAIRS OF THE THEA-THERE CAME A TIDE IN THE AFFAIRS OF THE THEAwhich led it on to financial distress and embarrassment. The paule of 1873 absorbed the stematon of the usual theatre-goers, so that they minded not the attractions which Mr.
Hooley persistently set before them. In fact, there was a mighty failing off of receipts. Last season was no better, yet still the manager of the cosy little theatre on fandolph strees wruggled on in hopes of better times, paying such of his debts as he could, and honestly promising to do better in the future. Creditors were indulgent, and sat around with the smile of serene expectation upon their brows.

But now comes the beginning of the end, In May last Mr. Hooley entered into an agreement with being unknown.

The assets equisist of a large number of notes, aggregating $45,954.73 in value, which are held by Mrs. Holmes to secure her on a mortgage gryen by her on the homestead for $54,000 to the Equitable Trust Company, for her husband's house?

the Equitable Trust Company, for her husband's benefit. These notes, however, being unsecured, are practically worthless. The furniture in the house on the corner of Michigan avenue and Thirty-hinth street, where the bankrupt lives, belongs to his wife. His other personal property consists of $50 of household stores; $125 of wearing apparel; a watch and chain valued at $125; diamond stud, $75; and horse and buggy worth $260. Holmes also states that he owns a half interest in the Clifton House, which has been assigned to his wife to secure her from loss on certain notes given to the State Savings Institution jointly with him. The hotel property, however, is mortgaged for $50,000, and his share, theyefore, is nearly valueless. The remaining assets are 130 bonds of Clifton House, valued nominally at $50,000; also, 680 shares of the Clifton House Company stock, $68,000; and 121 shares. THE GERMAN NAVY.

The Recent Great Review Off Warnemuende.

Strength and Organization of the Imperial War-Flotilla.

London Times.

BERLIN, Oct. 12.—The recent naval review off Warnemuende forms an epoch in the history of the German navy. The speciacle was a grand Seymour, $2,000; Thomas, Lazear & Hayden, Chicago, $2,500; A. A. Glenn, Mt. Sterling, $1,050; E. P. & S. L. Fuller, Grand Rapids, Mich., $1,500; J. S. Livingston, Chicago, $1,395.75; T. C. Day, Chicago, $1,445.05; Third National Bank, Chicago, $4,351.27; W. A. Reason, Chicago, $1,220; D. A. Gage, use of the City of Chicago, $20,000. Holmes also owes Brian Philpot an indefinite amount, and is liable on stock to the creditors of the Manufacturers' National Bank. He is further liable to J. A. Holmes on three notes for $8,000, which have been transferred to the Citizens' National Bank and to recover which the bank has brought suit. The same pauk has also sued him eive sailors pay.

Besides the sailors there are the "Wharf Divis-pointed "Boys mates," in which post they receive sailors pay.

Besides the sailors there are the "Wharf Divisions," consisting of operatives and engueers. The operatives are chiefly carpenters, ropemakers, sailmakers, gutmakers, smiths, tailors, shoemakers, etc. All those, being required to work at their several trades, receive but a scanty nantical education, although, as a rule, they are initiated into some of the duties of the service on board ship. The number of these men in the Navy hardly satisfies the requirements of the service, none but the best workmen being taken on, and the army asserting a prior claim.

The engineers are either men who have served as such on board merchant steamers or who choose the Navy as a profession. They are required to pass a stiff examination, are very well paid, and form a superior body of men. The examination may be passed immediately on entering the service or in a couple of years' time. Three-and-a-half years after passing, the engineer who has till then been called engineer, who has till then been called engineer so mate, may be admitted to the School of Engineers, where a half-year's course is necessary, and then he is subjected to another examination, and, if successful, becomes engineer. Continued service, at the end of which another examination has to be gone through, makes him first engineer. But there is a rise above this. As engineer and first engineer, the next grade attainable, he may become a commissioned officer, ranking as "Second Lieutenant at sea." To qualify himself for this step he must have obtained the "first note" in passing his examination as First Engineer, must have passed another examination afterwards, and be a gentleman in culture and bearing. Supposing these requirements to be fulfilled, the Admiralty may nominate him "Machine Engineer," his final admission depending upon his election as an officer by the members of the corps. There are two more grades above this, respectively called "first machine engineer" and "upper machine engineer," were a machine engineer "and "upper machine engineer." corresponding to higher commissions in the Navy.

When the Prussian Navy was established twenty-five years ago, German merchant Captains, with English, Swedish, and Dutch officers, formed the staff of the new fleet. Of the helpful foreigners who then entered the service, none are now to be found, all having either died or been pensioned, while even the doughty skippers, who constituted the native element of the force, have nearly all retired through the influx of properly trained and more polished successrs. At present, if German notions are worth anything, the German notions are worth anything, the German naval officer turned out by the Cadet School and Marine Academy at Kiel, in scientific and practical knowledge, is quite equal to his more renewmed colleague in France, Russia, and even Great Britain. He certainly is all that an interminable round of stiff examinations can make him.

Up to 1866 only Prussians were naval officers. Since then all other parts of Northern, Central, and Southern Germany have contributed their quota to the corps which the symbol and result of unity has thus become a representative feature of the new time. Promotion being quick, thanks to the rapid increase of the ships, the mary, which was not at first cared for, is now very popular, and attracts scions of the best families. Indeed, it is nearly as much in vogue as infantry and artillery, though it cannot of course presume to compete with a crack cavalry troop.

GERMANY AND ITALY.

The Emperor William at Milam.

Milan, Oct. 18.—The filumination of the Cathedral presented a most magnificent specta-

cie. A concert was given, during which the Ger-man and Italian anthems were played and greet-

His Majesty added:

Permit me, Sire, on this suspicious occasion to be come the interpreter of the wishes which the Italian join with me in forming for the happiness of you Majesty, the prosperity of Germany, and the constant franchip of the two nations.

the German navy. The spectacle was a grand one. Four iron-cased frigates and five corvettes, attended by a shoal of smaller craft, paraded and went through a mock fight before the German Emperor. As the Emperor, on board the King William, returned to the mouth of the Warne, he passed through a whole fleet of sight-seeing vessels, bearing visitors from all parts of Northern Germany. It was the most imposing review of German ships ever witnessed. That evening, Gen. von Stosch, the Chief of the Naval Department, to whose energy the country is cis. A concert was given, during which the German and Italian anthems were played and greeted with loud cheers. The Emperor and King witnessed the illumination from a balcony.

Milan, Oct. 19.—The King gare a private dinner party last night in honor of the German Emperor. Covers were laid for seven, viz.: King Victor Emmanuel, the Princess Margherita, the Duckess of Genga, Prince Humbert, the Duckes of Aosta, the Ducke of Genga, Princes Margherita afterwards beld a reception, which was attended by both sovereigns. The Emperor William repeatedly gave expression to the great satisfaction in felt at the brilliant and cordial reception which was extended to him, and at finding himself in Italy as the guest of King Victor Emmanuel. "I trust," the Emperor is understood to have said. "that the friendship between the two natious, like that between tho two Sovereigns, will be enduring and cordial."

The review to-day was brilliant and successful; 20,000 men tool part in it, and the maneuvies lasted about two hours. The Emperor, King Victor Emmanuel, and the Italian Princes, attended by their suites, inspected the troops, and afterwards witnessed the march-past before the Arena, where the Princes Margherita, the Duchess of Genoa, the Muisters and Deputies, the Prafect, Mayor, and other authorities, were assembled. The troops marched with great precision and suartness, and were cheered by the people. The Emperor expressed his commendation of their soldier-like bearing, which was also culogized by Field-Marshal Count Molities in conversation with the Minister of War. An immense crowd filled the approaches to the Praces.

ready, or all but ready, and a muster of strong corvettes to boot, it is to be anticipated that the German flag will be seen flying on the high seas next war.

Having often referred to the vessels, I will give you now a few particulars about the crews. The German navy at this moment is 5,000 men strong. Of this total, about 3,000 are sailors levied by conscription and taken from the merchant service. The remaining 2,000 are—some of them seamen educated in training ships, some operatives raised by conscription, and employed in their several trades either on board ship or in the Government dock-yards. Of the 3,000 conscripts, 2,000 are annually allowed to take their departure, and are replaced by fresh levies the average time of service being two and a half years. Notwithstanding the small number of men required, recruitment fer the German navy has peculiar difficulties to contend with. The German scafaring population is calculated at 125,000 men,—a total far in excess of what can be ever wanted for the imperial navy; but as German sailors take to their calling early in life, and frequently join foreign merchantmen before they are liable to serve in the navy, the consequence is that, as a rule, one-third of those called out fail to answer the summons of the recruiting officer. Many of these defaulters return after a few years, when they must expect to take their turn on board one of His Majesty's ships; others who have staid away too long to relish quarter-deck discipline remain abroad through fear of conscription, and die in America, China, or the East Indies. However, when once enlisted in the Imperial navy, they seldom desert. In the last three years there were but four-fifthe per cent of deserters in the German navy, sgainst 6 per cent in the English.

Seamen are exclusively levied from the fishing and seafaring population. Most of them are Pomeranane, Schleswig-Holsteiners, Meckhenburgers, and Hanoverians, the East Prussian shore being strangely suproductive of the article. None are taken but such as have ha majesty, the prosperity of Germany, and the constant fr'endship of the two nations.

The Emperor William replied:

I thank your Majesty for the courteous expressions you have been good enough to address to me. I am very pleased at having at last been able to return the friendly visit your Majesty paid me two years ago and which I had for a long time past intended to return. I am deeply moved by the reception I have met with on the part of your Majesty, and in this beautiful country. I know that the sympathy existing between us, will continue to be a guarantee for the preservation of the passes of Europe. I feel a pleasure in hoping that these relations will always remain the same, and it is with this wish I drink the health of your Majesty.

MIDNIGHT—The scene to-night at the theatre was magnificent. The German and Italian Sovereigns arrived at 9 p. m., and remained two hours. All the boxes were filled, the ladies dresses and jewels greatly adding to the brilliancy of the spectacle. Many distinguished personages had seets in the parterre. Their Majestice' arrival was greated with three rounds of cheers, and the Gunnan National Anthem was played. The Emperor rose twice to express his thanks. After the "Cantata Borussia" had been given the cheering was renewed. The two Monarchs sat between the Princess Marguerite and the Duchess of Genoa, and the Princes occupied the other seats in the Royal box. The members of the Imperial and Royal suites were in other boxes with court ladies and the Prescents of the two Chambers. The crowds assembled in the streets cheered the Royal cortage as it passed. To-morrow there will be a great hunt at Monza.

Milan, Oct. 20.—The Persverenza of to-day to their re-entering the merchant service and making distant voyages. Those who are willing to remain in the navy, after a four years' service become full sailors; after a four years' service become full sailors; after a four years' service, second mates; and after a seven years' service, first mates; when, upon a special examination, they are eligible for petty officers. In this canacity they may be boatswains, gunners, and navigators (steuer-mann), the latter degree being attainable only after serving a year either as boatswain or gunner, and a winter's additional study in the school at Kiel. A year's service in either of these situations, as boatswain, gunner, or sieue mann, enobles a man to claim the important addition of "First" to his title, when he has reached the highest round of the ladder. There are, however, a few profitable posts reserved for persons of higher merit, such as corporal to one of the yarious "sailors' divisions," assistant wharf inspector, etc.

Well paid as the petty officers generally are, assue an who have experienced the freedom of the merchant service are rarely induced to stay yoluntarily in the navy. To form a permanent staff of petty officers, Government have had recourse to the training-ship system as practiced in England. Healthy boys, between 15 and 17, sharp of sight and quick of ear, with the ordinary elementary school education, are acceptable as, pupils. After a three years' preliminary service, theo take the oath, become sailors, and are obliged to serve account of ill-heaith.

The Emperor and the King, attended by their suites, have gone to Monza to-day.

The German Emperor had long interviews yesterday with the Italian Ministers Signori Minishetti and Visconti Venosta. His Majesty expressed confidence in the policy pursued by the present Italian Cabinet. After the audience, and after an interview with Herr von Bulow, the Ministers waited upon King Victor Emmannel, and the two sovereigns afterwards exchanged visits.

The Court returned from Monza at half-past 3 this afternoon. The Royal carriages were escorted by a body of Cuirassiers.

In conversation with the President of the Chamber of Deputies the German Emperor remarked that the reception he had met with was a proof of the satisfaction of the country at the alliance disting between Italy and Germany. His Majesty adied, "I am pleased because my reception attests the friendship of the two nations—relations which will promote their mutual happiness. Italy and Germany attained unity together and must remain friends. Yes, ever friends." Through the Emperor pressed His Majesty shand and repeated, "Yes, always friends." The Emperor also spoke to the King in two rations which will promote their mutual happiness. The Emperor also spoke to the King in avorable terms of the Italian Minister for Foreign Affairs.

19:30 r. M.—The Emperor and the King were enthusiastically received to night at the theatre. Prince Bismarck soo has given renewed expression to his father's regret at not having been able to accompany the Emperor.

Monga, Oct. 20.—The German Emperor, accompanied by the King and Royal Princes, arrived here this morning. They were enthusiastically received by an immense concourse of spectators.

An Earthquake Wave.

San Francisco Cair.

From accounts brought of a high swell bring for some days during a calm on the c coast line as far north as Point Arens, it appears probable that the earthquake which vibrated failed the other day in this city, and at other points, had its origin somewhere in the Pacific Ocean. Earthquake waves travel with amazing velocity. The great earthquake at Lisbon rolled a shock across the Atlantic which was felt in a few hours in the West Indies, and some perturbations of laxe levels were observed in Great Britain. The convulsion which so seriously affected the western coast of South America and a part of this coast in 1883 was even more remarkable, as the wave thereby set in motion touched the eastern coast of Africa within twenty-four hours after the occurrence. The Gipsy, which arrived yesterday from Cuffey's Cove, calling at Bridgeport, brings the information that a most extraordinary sea has lashed the coast at these and other harbors. The swell came from the southwest without wind. Bridgeport chuto is reported washed away by the awell, and is now some 150 feet higher than high-water mark. The coast north of Point Arena is represented to be covered with drift-logs. weather was bad, and the Royal hunt, was, in consequence, postponed till to-morrow.

A splendid luncheon was given, for which 120 covers had been laid. The Emperor expressed himself enchanted with his stay here, and was noticed for a long time in conversation with the Princess Margherita. Count von Moltke and other members of the suite paid a visit to the Monza Cathedral.

Minan, Oct. 20.—The Perseveranza of to-day states that the German Emperor has sent a telegram to the Empress Augusta announcing his entry into Milan, and speaking of the brilliancy of the scene as defying description. "I never," added His Majesty, "saw anything like it." The Emperor particularly admired the fillumination of the Duomo and the Piazza, and said that King Victor Emmanuel manifested towards him extreme corduslity.

King Victor Emmanuel immediately after the arrival of the German Emperor telegraphed to the German Crown Prince an account of His Imperial Majesty's reception. All the members of the Emperor's suite telegraphed to their friends in Berlin describing the cordial welcome they had received. The Emperor has received congratulatory dispatches from all the members of his family. His Majesty has given sudience to the German residents in Milan, who presented him with a chased silver salver. King Victor Emmanuel has presented an ancient mossic to the Emperor, a bust of himself to Count von Moltke, a snuf-box set in brilliants to Count von der Goltz, and his portrait to Count Pueckler and Herr Lindorff. NORTH CHICAGO The Town Board of North Chicago held a meeting at Justice W. H. DeWolf's office on North Clark street yesterday afternoon, for the purpose of fixing the salvies of town officers, and the disposition of routine business. Justice Hammill presided, and Justices DeWolf, Paulsen, and Robinson, Supervisor Baynes, and th sen, and Robinson, Supervisor Baynes, and the Town Clerk were present.

After some informal town business had been disposed of, the question of safaries was raised, and that of the Assessor established at $800 per annum. Justice Paulsen made a motion that $246, the amount of a bill approved at a previous meeting of the Roard, be deducted from the amount, also $300 which has been paid that official with the understanding that it should be paid to his assisfants, which had not been done. This was agreed to, and there remains now due the Town Assessor the sum of $254, which will be paid him.

A motion by the same Justice that the Collector be allowed three assistants, who should severally be paid a monthly salary of $100 for the time they are employed, not exceeding four months, was duly passed.

A motion by the same Justice that the Collector be allowed an annual salary of $1,500 occasioned some debate. Supervisor Barves moved to amend by allowing the Collector $2,000, which was tabled.

Justice DeWolf moved to fix the salary at £1,200, which was lost,—DeWolf, Baynes, and £tanton voting in the affirmative, and Justices Robinson, Paulsen, and Hammill in the negative. The original motion, fixing the salary at $1,500, was then passed, Justice Robinson made a motion that the Supervisor be paid $1,600, which was adopted with one dissenting vote, that of Clerk Stanton.

Supervisor Baynes thought that the Clerk was entitled to $900, the amount paid the Clerk last year, and moved that he be allowed that amount. There being no second, the motion was withyear, and moved that he be allowed that amount. There being no second, the motion was withdrawn, and each Justice called on his colleague to state his ideas of the situation.

Justice DeWolf thought that, though the position was one of responsibility and trust, $900 was too much for the services rendered. Yet he did not wish to dictate, preferring to hear from others.

Justice Robinson was confident that $400 unid amply remunerate him for his labors. Supervisor Baynes disagreed with Justice Rob-sen, and moved as an amendment that he be iid $700, but the Board declined to entertain the amendment.

At this, Clerk Stanton took the floor, and explained how faithfully he discharged the duties of the office, how entirely his time was monopolized, and concluded with an appeal for favorable consideration.

Justice Paulsen recalled the time when the office of Town Clerk was the best paying in Cook County, and then the remuneration was only $200. The people of the county were pleading to be relieved from these burdensome taxes, and he thought it was time to defer to their wishes.

LOCAL LETTERS. THE COUNTY TREASURY. To the Editor of The Chicago Tribune

OFFICE OF THE COUNTY TREASURER AND COUN TY COLLECTOR, COOR COUNTY, ILL., CHICAGO, NOV. 3.—As you have acted very fairly towards me during the exciting campaign we have just passed through, and as my official character has been grossly and outrageously libeled, I hope, as an act of justice to me, you will publish this communication. I shall be two weeks later, because I deemed it to the interest of the State to be lenient to the taxpayers, and my official conduct in this regard was commended by all classes.

During the two years I have been in office I have yet to ask the politics of a single employe—the responsibility is so great and the chances for errors so numerous that the clerical help were employed for their capacity and honesty. As soon as the Treasurer-elect takes possession of his office the money will be counted, and those who think I have not got it on hand are invited to be present.

VERDICT OF THE CORONER'S JURY.

The Coroner's Jury in the Clark murder case reassembled yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Sixth Precinct Station.

Mr. Henry Wilkinson, of Myers & Co., whole sale liquor-dealers, 268 East Madison street, tes-tified that he was walking down the south side of Washington. He crossed over at the corner of Washington and Desplaines streets, and when near No. 83 he saw a man running down the pas-sage-way between 81 and 83. The man was coming out of the way towards the pavement and the girl following. The man said something, but witness could not understand it. The man had a pistol in his hand, and immediately afterwards he heard the pistol-shot. He then walked down the street. He saw no hatchet in the girl's hand. If she had anything, he could not see it, as it would have been hid by her dress. She was holding her hands at her side in their natural position. The whole thing was done in less than two minutes. He could not hear the girl say anything. After the shot she gave a shriek and partly turned about. Witness said the prisoner had the general appearance of the man. He did not wait to see the prisoner come out of the passage-way. ing out of the way towards the pavement and Simon J. Forhan, of 37 West Madison street, was near the house. He heard a quarrel as he passed the house, and looked in. The girl seemed to be about 10 or 12 feet from the man. Some boys were there. He heard them say, "He's going to shoot her," and immediately after, "He has shot her." He saw the man come out, after the report of the pistol, very pale, and seeming to hide the pistol. He saw the pistol given up, and the prisoner said that was the pistol he had used. The affair happened three or four minutes before he notified Judge Scully said the last witness came to him about 10 or 10:30 in the morning. He sent Mr. Forhan and officers down, and followed himself. On his way down he met the officers returning with the prisoner. He saw the girl weltering in her blood. He asked the prisoner if the pistol was the one he used in the killing, and prisoner admitted it was, and said he had committed the deed in self-defense. When Judge Scully saw him in the cell he was not aware of the effect of the shot, but upon being told of it he made this statement about shooting the girl in self-defense.

able the County Physician to examine the body and make his report.

The jury met again at 5 o'clock, and the County Physician, Dr. Henrotin, made his report of the post-mortem examination. The physician found that the shot was through the left side, an inch and a half above, the nipple, produced by a heavy ball, which went through the side of the heart, taking out a piece. The physician never saw such a wound made through the heart with a small ball of this variety. It then passed right through a portion of the lung between two rios. The ball was found in the muscles of the back, lying almost under the skin. The ball was produced. It is a small cartridge, but the physician had no doubt it was the cause of death, which must have been almost instantaneous.

The lury then retired, and soon afterwards brought in a verdict of murder. The prisoner will be held over to await the action of the Grand Jury, without bail. Grand Jury, without bail.

A communication was read from the architec of the County Boarding-House, recommending the doing of the plumbing, gas-fitting, etc., or the letting of the contracts for the same at once. The object of the communication was, doubt-less, to secure the letting of the work in advance of the new members of the Board coming in.
The matter was referred to the Committee on Education. The pay-rolls for the several county departments were then submitted, and also the usual amount of requisitions, which were referred.

ELECTIONEERING BRIDGES.

Commissioner Holden said that a few weeks ago an appropriation of $3,000 had been made for the building of a bridge in the Town of Hyde Park, which he was satisfied from representations made to him was against the wishes of the people. He moved a re-consideration of the vote by which the appropriation had been made.

Commissioner Clough was opposed to the re-consideration, and said the appropriation had been made by the Board with a view to securing for a certain Commissioner a certain support been made by the Board with a view to securing for a certain Commissioner a certain support for re-election. He was satisfied that the appropriation was a part of a political contract, and since the party in whose interest it had been made had been defeated, he was opposed to the Board meddling with the appropriation, for the reason that those who voted for it did so with their eyes open, and were conscious of what they were doing.

Commissioner McCaffrey said he had voted for it had was in favor of a reconsideration. If the Puritans of that section did not want the bridge he would not force it upon them, however it might displease the Republican party.

Commissioner Clough replied that the appropriation originally was a political trade, which he could prove in the courts.

A lengthy discussion ensued on the question, and finally the whole matter was reconsidered and referred to the Committee on Roads and Bridges.

The Board then adjourned until Monday. CRIMINAL.

The police of the West Madison Street Station pounced down upon the house of ill-fame at No. 24 Randolph-street last evening, and lodged four nen and seven women in the lock-up. The place has been notorious for a long time as one of the most disorderly of its class in the city.

An examination showed that a light of glass was cut out, but the watchman revented them from getting in.

Joseph Withers, runner for some cheap hotel in the neighborhood of the Union Depot, at the foot of Lake street, and Mike Goldsmith, a "man about town," could not agree yesterday. Politics and other matters worked them up until nothing but a rough-and-tumble could assuage their wrath. As a result, Withers lies next a drunken man in the Armory, charged with assault with a deadly weapon upon Goldsmith.

ter common to dealers' exhibitions, who find it for their interest to please all classes of customers, and to put upon the market all sorts of pictures, good and bad, chesp and expensive. All the Exposition galleries are occupied without being crowded, and the moderate number is an advantage rather than a disadvantage. Some of these pictures are from the Louisville exhibition, and a few from Cincinnati. Some have been here before at the Exposition of last year or the dealers' exhibition of the spring. Of these—not many in number—persons fond of pictures will not be sorry to see the good ones again, and the bad ones will fill up as well as others, and will not remain long in the memory.

OF THE BETTER CLASS

of pictures that were here before may be noted several remarkable examples of French drapery and figure painting, which seem to approach perfection in the representation of the texture and folds of silk, velvet, and other fabrics; such are C. D. Hue's "Departure for the Promenade" (No. 217), P. C. Comte's "Love-letter," which represents a young lady in a yellow dress melting a stick of scaling-wax, and is perhaps the best of all; and Chevillard's "Pet Dog." Some of Milne Ramsey's excellent pictures of still life also are back, and an admirable picture by Pasini of a "Market Scene at Cairo" (No. 266), full of small figures of people and animals, that will repay any amount of study.

THE NEW PICTURES

are, however, the principal point of interest, and the exhibition of a considerable number of good foreign ones is especially welcome so soon after the display of a standard American collection. Perhaps one-half or two-thirds of the collection may be passed by as not worth a second look. Among the remainder there are many interesting examples of well-known European panters, often of the highest interest, one of two of which by themselves would attract an art-student to a visit. Mr. Lewis is popular and prosperous, and likely to remain so, so long as a large proportion even of the well-to-do class of the community continue to know nothing of the real qualities of pictures. There are perhaps twenty paintings by this artist, many of them large and pretentious, in the galleries, and there is not one of them that a person of real taste and discrimination would have in his house. They have the merit of newness and freedness, for all the twenty are dated 1875, or, at the farthest, 1874. There are worse painted pictures in the collection than these, but none which are more distinctly discreditable to art, for it is obvious that no one knows better than the existence. for it is obvious that no one knows better than the artist how had they are, and he consciously and deliberately chooses to grind out one of these expert, soulless pictures a week, rather than paint good ones, as he manifestly might if he would ract, while guardian spirits over them point out the safe way to steer, though it must be said that their chance looks small without immediate physical aid. The painting of these scenes is careful and conscientious, skillful to a respectable degree if not masterly, and it is said that the artist is a spiritualist, or holds some unusual ideas respecting the relations of the material and spiritual world, and paints his pictures with the utmost sincerity and devoutness. Most of them have been engraved.

a moderate-sized landscape, under glass, of Bierstadt, a "Scene in California" (No. 42), is likely to win praise, even from his enemies, for it is not only quiet and pleasing in taself, but quite free from the air of "business" which is attributed to him as his great fault. It is a small pond or pool with low ground and trees.

McCord has a pleasing little picture (No. 122), the "Falls of Minnehaha," and F. K. M. Rehn, of Philadelphia, is represented by several marine pictures in oil and water-color, resembling in general style W. T. Richards and Bricher, and some of them very good and satisfactory. It is to be remarked that there is no distinction made in the catalogue between oils and water-colors, nor is there any distinction in the hanging.

and water-colors, nor is there any distinction in the banging.

THE WATER-COLORS

are all framed close like oil-paintings, without the usual white border, and hung indiscriminately with the other pictures, so that it takes a sharp-eyed visitor to distinguish one from the other, and the experiment is fairly tried (as it is well worth trying) of putting the different mediums into direct competition. The water-colors stand the test perfectly, and of their admirable quality something will be said hereafter. There is a considerable representation of Roman artists, chief among them the late Spanish-Roman painter Zamacois, whose fame is already so great that his pictures command a very high price. As an example, a diminutive picture, 6 inches by 4, on the west wall of the middle room, is valued at $1,000. The title is "The Cavalier" (No. 267), and it represents a gallant in an indolent attitude playing a guitar. The exquisite finish characteristic of Zamacois, as it is of Meissonier, is fully exemplified in this picture. There is a water-color by the same artist, a similar subject but larger and with two figures, the "Cavalier's Repose," which has a peculiar light-green curtain conspicuous in it, and does not strike one at first sight as harmonious in color. A very peculiar Roman picture is a head by Romako, a colorless girl's face, with disordered, light hair and suggestions of a dress, the sort of picture that only an artist of assured the hanging.

nious in color. A very peculiar Roman picture is a head by Romako, a colorless girl's face, with disordered, light hair and suggestions of a dress, the sort of picture that only an artist of assured reputation could be sure would be accepted as good, but interesting as from a well-known hand. On the same wall with Zamacois' little "Cavalier" are several small pictures worth looking at. A little sleeping Cupid by Rothermel, who painted the "Battle of Gettysburg," has fine color in it. A picture of similar size and subject, with a female figure added, by Diaz, is skillful and highly valued. A small picture, perhaps 10 or 12 inches square, by B. Vautier, is a beautiful example of a style of portraiture that has several times been urged in the art columns of The Tribunk, that is, of small carefully painted, full-length figures. Of course it is only once in a while that an artist can pain like this picture (which also is held at $1,000), but the arrangement and general idea are feasible for everybody. Two young ladies, one seated in an easy chair and the other bending over her, are examining a book. The hat and cloak of one of them are thrown carelessly on a table behind. The faces and figures, and all the accessories,—the ornamental fire-screen, the vase, the large picture dimly seen,—are exquisitely pennted, and make up a charming picture, which, if the figures were portraits of friends, would be worth twenty ordinary portraits.

A fine little sea-view of Ziem, Venice, or friends, would be worth them; traits.

A fine little sea-view of Ziem, Venice, or Naples from the sea, exemplifies how little will make up a fine picture in skillful hands. There is only the slightest detail besides sky and water, but the range of color—something in the treatment—renders it interesting.

Two large views, one of the Castle of Chillen, the other Venetian, are by Hazzikine, the brother of the desier, now in Rome, and marks observation. A garden, with children coming down a path, almost entirely green, but with bright flowers in the foreground, is by a French painter. Xavier De Cock, and displays skillful management of a difficult range of color. The most important and rare of the water-colors is a large view by the English artist, Skinner Prout, of European buildings, a cathefral and surrounding houses, which every student of water-colors by Jules Dupre, Craevanger, Herbert, etc., and some unusually large and good examples of Rowbotham, which are the better for being framed in this way.

Other important pictures can only be indicated by a memorandum of a few of the artists' names, which will sufficiently indicate their character: Paul Weber, Kindler, Victor Lefebore, Hubmer, Hetzel, Innocenti, Gericault, Saunier, Mayer, Sully.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Lispet," the play given for the first time at this theatre Tuesday night, has some little merit. The action is complex, yet luminous and interesting; the situations, many of them, are strong; and the opportunities for scenic effects are abundant. There is little to be said for the dialogue of the piece or for the consistency of the story which it relates. If the play has any main purpose, it is not perceptible to the ordinary observer. It has some of the ideas so effectually used in "The Two Orphans," and its affinity with the school of sensationalism is quite as pro-nounced; but it has not the strongest features of the more celebrated play. "Lispet" has been very handsomely put on the stage at the Adelphi. Some of the scenery is particularly fine,—notably a steam-boat rescue and an interior view of an old mill. The latter is turned about so as to expose the exterior without pringing down the an old mill. The latter is turned about so as to expose the exterior without pringing down the curtain. This idea is taken from Boncicalt's "Shaughraun," and it is said to be quite as effectively used in "Lispet" as in the play which first introduced it. The acting in "Lispet" is generally as good as the piece deserves. Mr. M. V. Lingham, an actor of considerable ability, assumes the part of Mark Hamilton, the scheming brother who attempts to defraud his niece and sister-in-law of their property. Mr. Lingham is worthy of better things than the part affords him. Miss Kate Meek as the sister-in-law of Mark Hamilton and the wife of Walter Hamilton does what fails to her share with much carnestness and fidelity. Miss Millie Lackett as Bessie Hamilton, the lost daughter, afterwards "Lispet," was not perfectly satisfactory.

THE EXPOSITION CONCERT. Arrangements have been made on an extended scale for the promenade concert to be given at the Exposition Building this evening by the First Regiment. The merits of the entertainment, no less than those of the organization in whose behalf it is given, should be sufficient to attract a large attendance. The First Regiment is a Chicago institution. It should be supported properly by the people of Chicago. All good citizens have an interest in its welfare. The militia is an efficient and necessary part of a complete State Government, and, as such, every effort to improve its condition deserves public sympathy and support. Besides the claims of the First Regiment upon the people, there is another reason why the concert tonight should be largely attended. It will probably have considerable interest as an entertainment. Two bands—one military and the other string—have been engaged, and the music to be given is above the average of the programmes on similar occasions. As a means of passing a pleasant evening, the concert will doubtless prove all that can be expected. nent, no less than those of the organization

The sale of reserved seats for the opera of "The Merry Wives of Windsor," by Nicolai, will commence to-day at 9 o'clock at McVicker's Theatre. An immense amount of labor has been spent to set this opera on the stage in first-class style. The cast of the solos is or-cellent throughout, and the chorus and orches-tra are far better than any traveling company is able to produce. The costumes are all new, and the accounty will be in every way in accordance with the requirements of the libretto.

SPECIE-RESUMPTION

To the Editor of The Chicago Trabune: CAMBRIDGE, Ill., Oct. 30.—In answer to the in quiry of some correspondent in relation so the effect of a further issue of irredeemable currency on its value, you take the most common-sense view of the financial situation (as I think) of any writer on finance that I have yet read after.

On this construction of your views, I believe you willing to allow the use of your columns for you willing to allow the use of your columns for the promulgation of any feasible plan of specie-resumption. For this reason, I make bold to state a proposition which I think would result in the immediate restoration of business-confidence, and the certainty of specie-resumption at the time specified. It is simply this: That Congress, this winter, shall enact that, on and after Jan. 1. 1879, all notes of the United States will be redeemable in gold on damand.

That Congress, this winter, shall enact that, on and after Jan. 1. 1879, all notes of the United States will be redeemable in gold on demand; and that the outstanding legal-tenders be atonce taken up and replaced by notes bearing this promise on their face. That it should further enact that all National Banks be required to have an amount of specie equal to 40 per cent of their circulation, to secure the holders of their notes,—the Government canceling a sufficient amount of the bonds now held for that purpose, to enable them to meet this requirement. That, simultaneous withithe issue of this new currency, silver coin be issued in lieu of the fractional currency. A definite promise of early resumption on the face of the legal-tenders would bring these notes to par with gold, less the interest; and, as the time of redemption approached, they would appreciate to a gold-standard. The issue of $40,000,000 of silver coin would be a practical resumption to that amount, and would be constantly redeeming an equivalent amount of $30,000,000 by the issue of bonds, the principal and interest payables in coin, greenbacks being taken at par in payment, would assist the Government credit with the holders of its circulation.

The present depressed state of values, and

The present depressed state of values, and the temper of the people, nearly all of whom understand that the present stagnation is caused by a distrust of the currency, make this time especially favorable to specie-resumption; and resumption on this plan would take this question out of politics, where it is now a football, tion out of politics, where it is now a fo and a disgrace to the nation. J. l

ON. To the Editor of The Chicago Tribuns:

FAIRFIELD, Ia., Nov. 1.—On about a week ago,
I bought a copy of the Chicago Times, on the cars on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Rail-road, on my way home from a hunt on Kankakee. On a few minutes after first looking on it, I found that, whilst I and every one else had been found that, whilst I and every one else had been sady off, old Storey alone was on it.

On two weeks hence, I shall be in or on Chicago, and I would like to call on you, and learn whether it is true, as on dit, that the old reprobate is onestly on the side of this pedantic nonsense, or only trying to be a fool. But, if you can advise me on this point through THE TRIBUXE on receipt of this, you will confer on me a great favor. I am on eggs to know, but on just now I am too busy to visit you in person.

IOWA SOLDIERS' BACK-PAY.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

DE MOINES, Ia., Nov. 3.—Adj.-Gen. Baker gave notice, a few weeks ago, that there was still back-pay due some of the soldiers of the Second and Third Infantry and First Iowa Cavalry. The press of the State. in repeating the notice, have created an erroneous opinion; and thousands of applications are made for pay. The sum due is for the amount stopped against the soldiers for the gray suit. Every Iowa soldier knows whether he has received this or not. Nothing is due them except for that. Of the appropriation made, $18,500, the General has paid out to claimants all but about $4,000. Heirs or widows of soldiers to whom this is due can receive the necessary blanks for proof of claim on application to Gen. Baker. The amount due the First lowa Cavalry was for the use of horses and services between June 12, 1961, and July 31, 1861. Of the appropriation to refund this, there remains about $10,000 unexpended. Blanks for proof of claims will be furnished to all entitled to this refund. Nothing is due either of these regiments except as above.
